DELPHOS PETER WELLER and ARMINTA JANE PROWANT and THEIR DESCENDANTS

WELLER GENEALOGY: Our Weller immigrant ancestor may have been JOHN HENRY WELLER who arrived at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on 26 September 1737 on the ship "Saint Andrew Galley", John Stedman, master. John Henry Weller died in Rapho Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania in 1768. His wife at the time of his death was ALBERTINE _________. They were probably the parents of our known DANIEL WELLER who was born in 1754 in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Daniel Weller married ELIZABETH MECHIE or MEASHY, born in 1760, on 2 May 1781 in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Their first two children were born there. They migrated to Hampshire County, Virginia (now Mineral County, West Virginia) where four more children were born. Their second migration was to Washington County, Pennsylvania where the rest of their ten children were born and where they lived out their lives. Daniel Weller was a weaver by trade as was John Henry Weller, his probable father. Daniel Weller died on 23 March 1824 and Elizabeth, his wife, died on 26 March 1838. Both are buried in a family burial plot in Washington County, Pennsylvania near Cannonsburg. JOHN WELLER, the first son of Daniel and Elizabeth Weller, was born on 29 December 1783 in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. He married ELIZABETH SHIVELY, born 10 June 1784, in 1806 in Washington County, Pennsylvania. Their first child was born in Washington County, Pennsylvania but the rest of their family of eleven children were born in Stark County, Ohio. John Weller died on 21 August 1865 and Elizabeth Weller died on 11 September 1840. He is buried in Miami County, Indiana in Enterprise Cemetery and she in Hancock County, Ohio in Hickory Grove Cemetery. HENRY L. WELLER the tenth child of John and Elizabeth Weller was born 16 December 1827. He was married three times and had a family of fourteen children. During his married life he lived in Miami County, Indiana, Hancock County, Ohio and Putnam County, Ohio. He married second to ADALINE COPLEY, born 28 December 1842, on 29 May 1864, in Hancock County, Ohio. Among the six children born to this union was DELPHOS PETER WELLER. Henry L. Weller died on 11 December 1913. Adaline Weller died on 10 February 1884. Both are buried in Putnam County, Ohio in Mt. Zion Cemetery.(1,2)

PROWANT GENEALOGY: Our Prowant immigrant ancestors were probably DEBALT PROWVA Sr. or BRUAU or BRAU and son JACOB PROWVA. They immigrated from the Palatinate, a Province of Germany, in a part now known as Alsace-Lorraine. They arrived on the ship "Lydia", James Allen, master and landed in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 29 September 1741. A Jacob

Brau was living in Lancaster Co., PA in 1765 where it is assumed he raised his family including JACOB BROWAND II. Jacob Browand II amd his family were listed on the 1820 Census of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. One son, CHRISTIAN BROWAND, who was born in 1796, married CATHERINE GABLE, born 1800, in 1820 in Lancaster County, Pnnsylvania. They migrated to Wayne County, Ohio where DANIEL PROWANT, one of ten children, was born. Later the Christian Browand family moved to Putnam County, Ohio. Christian Browand died 2 September 1866 and Catherine (Gable) Browand died 4 August 1875. Both are buried in Putnam County, Ohio in Sigler Cemetery. Daniel Prowant was born 29 June 1831. He married Sarah Jane Rogers or Rodgers, born 1 May 1837, on 19 April 1857 in Putnam County Ohio. Daniel Prowant died 11 July 1913 and Sarah Jane Prowant died in 1909 in Putnam County, Ohio. Both are buried there in Fairview Cemetery. ARMINTA JANE PROWANT was the eighth of ten children born to Daniel and Sarah Jane Prowant.(3)

DELPHOS PETER WELLER (I) was born 25 August 1875 in Big Lick Township, Hancock County, Ohio the son of Henry L. Weller and his second wife Adaline Copley. While Delphos was a small boy and before 1879 the family moved to Putnam County, Ohio to a farm on the Putnam - Defiance County Line. He was educated in the Weller Schoolhouse, named for the family, and located near his home. He also worshiped in this same schoolhouse when a minister was available and later as a young man he preached in this building. On 10 July 1895 he united with the German Baptist Brethren and was baptized by Elder John Prowant. Arminta Jane Prowant, his future bride, was baptized at the same time. ARMINTA JANE PROWANT was born 24 September 1876, the daughter of Elder Daniel Prowant and Sarah Jane Rogers. She attended the May School, a little primative building located just east of her home. Her father was her teacher for part of her schooling. On 3 October 1897 Delphos and Arminta were married by her uncle, Elder John Prowant, in his home. Their first home was a primative log cabin located in Highland Township, Defiance County, Ohio being about a mile north of his parent's home. Two children, Everett and Verna were born here. In 1903 they moved to a 140 acre farm located just west of Arminta's parents' home about 3 miles east of Dupont, Ohio along the Blanchard River. The rest of their children were born here; Edna, Irving, Ernest and Lowell. They lived on this farm the rest of their married life. Delphos was elected to the ministry 22 September 1898 and advanced to Elder 19 October 1902. He began his ministry at the Auglaize Chapel of the Church of the Brethren. In 1922 this church building was moved a short distance to Dupont and was then called Dupont Church of the Brethren. His continued appointment as pastor of this congregation, from 1898 to 1943, speaks eloquently to the high regard they had for his ministry. Delphos attended Manchester College from 1912 to 1915. He died 13 April 1943 and Arminta died 19 December 1957. Both are buried in

Faiview Cemetery, Putnam County, Ohio.(3) Their children:

PREFACE

This Writing started with the desire to record my Family History so that I might pass on to my children the rich heritage of my ancestors. Much had been recorded on my mother's lines but little on the Weller line.

In this search for my Weller heritage, I found many Colonial Wellers but very few had taken the time to record the various Weller lines. I found Wellers in the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, and Pennsylvania. All who moved West as the new country grew, carved out new lives for themselves. Some of these stories are recorded and prove very interesting to the descendent.

It will be my attempt to put as many of these Weller lines as possible under one cover via this open-ended workbook-notebook. As the various lines come to light, they will be recorded as an individual chapter with its own text, index, and appendix. Hopefully at some future date, as time and finances permit, we can publish the then known data.

It is my belief that all Weller surnames and variations of the spelling of Weller originated in 15th Century Germany. This too is the conviction of Margaret (Mighell) Weller who in 1967 translated Dr. Hieronymus Weller von Molsdorff (1499-1572) writings from German to English. These writings are the introduction to this working notebook. My personal thanks go to Margaret M. Weller, of Pullman Washington, for allowing me to use the translation and for providing the encouragement to undertake such a project. Also to thank Coy and Reva Weller of Flint, Michigan, for seeking and recording my Weller line for without this help, this first writing would not have been possible - - - -

Thank You,

WELLER ORIGIN AND GENEALOGY

Original research and statement by Dr. Hieronymus (Jerome) Weller von Molsdorff (1499 - 1572) Theologian with Dr. Martin Luther (1483 - 1546) in Wittenburg and Freiberg, Germany.

Prepared for publication by the German Historian, Cyrus Spangenburg (1528 - 1604) and published by Georg Baivman in 1590 at Erfurt, Germany (see page XXXIV)

Restudied and restated with marginal references after the death of Dr. Jacob WELLER von Molsdorff (1602 - 1664) Theologian and author of a Greek Grammar used in many lands. The last eighteen years of his life were spent in Dresden as Court Minister for Johann Georg I, Elector of Saxony.

Published by M. Christoff Frederick Lämmel, 1699, Leipzig. This publication contains statements from many writers about the two men, the well known poem by Michael Mempel (1572), a catalog of their writings, a complete bibliography and an index.

1967 - the following genealogical sketch.
The language of the original publications was ancient German for the genealogical story and Latin for sermons, poems, etc. The books from which this English "translation" was made are photostats copied from the books at the German Museum at Nürnberg. These photostat copies were bound as four small books by their owner, Mr. Gustav August WELLER, whose address is Marion via Oakly, Utah. Mr. Weller was born in 1890 in Chemnitz, Saxony and brought his family to Salt Lake City in 1925. Before coming to America he was interested in family genealogy and had collected data on a number of WELLER families. GAW in the following story will refer to his research.

Miss Margarete Meinhardt, retired professor at Washington State University, Pullman, Washington, assisted in the translation. The Latin parts have not been included.

Various spellings of the name are found in these books: Wähler - Waller - Weller - Wehler and Woeller.

Weller - was listed by the Social Security Agency in 1964 as 1662nd. most common name in the United States, 17,155 total.

What a Family Organization we could become! How many could trace their ancestry to this ancient beginning? It takes money, dedication and time to publish - - - but WHY NOT? NOW!

SCHWANFELDER - VON MOLSDORFF - WELLER GENEALOGY

Hieronymus (Jerome) Weller von Molsdorff and other writers

It is difficult to construct conclusively the beginnings of the ancient noble families because of the incompleteness of the old German Histories and Records. Men have wished for better records, especially we Germans of the Rhein and Danube Regions. There are so few written documents, and these are mostly records kept by monks in the cloisters and are usually only names recounted one after the other, and then only those persons considered worthy to be listed because they were closely associated with the Royal Family.

Thus men from several of the noble families in Thuringia, Voigtland and Saxony began to search out their ancient histories from among this shocking neglect. These men wished to know how their families had their beginnings. Were the old family traditions which had come down to them true? Each individual family had its own stories handed down from generation to generation.

Some of the stories concerned noblemen who had been brought from other places to help Kaiser Carl, the Great (Charlemagne, Ruler of the Frankish Empire 768 - 814) unify the small German groups into one political and administrative whole. Other of the old families were raised to nobility from among the local people because of some outstanding deed or service requiring wisdom and intelligence rendered to rulers before and after Kaiser Carl.

Though the certainty for the beginning of the ancient noble family, von Molsdorff, is closed to the inquirer, Rudolf Molsdorff appeared in the year 933, during the time of Kaiser Heinrich and his son Kaiser Otto (919 - 973) after the victories at Marsburg. Although there are several conjectures, the statement by one of the great elders seems satisfactory to me , that the House of Molsdorff had been in existence in Thuringia some eight hundred years before this first recorded date. I hold this knight, Rudolf, to have descended from the original nobleman by the name Schwanfelder who was raised to nobility and with his wife established their home at Molsdorff in Thuringen, on the east slope of the Thuringen Mountains and Forest. A tower on the ancient castle had been destroyed by fire and was never rebuilt.

As the world is forever changing and nothing is permanent, many venerable and great men with important backgrounds of names, titles, coats-of-arms and property have lost their inheritance through the years, either through wars, debts, violent displacement, forced labor, accidents or sale. Especially has this been true in Voigtland!
(Even the area does not appear on modern maps, M.W.)

The ownership of the Molsdorff properties has changed hands considerbly through the centuries. It is known that the Kutzelden family were a long time in possession of the Molsdorff castle. After that is was owned by the Witzleben family; and for 100 years it has been owned by the Dhüne family. Curd Withers von Dhüne is still living there (ca 1550).

Those of the Molsdorff family in Voigtland had among other estates, Noschwitz which is now owned by Abraham Röder. I (Hieronymus) visited this place and talked with one of the Röders. Another of the Molsdorff estates was Jansgrüne which belongs to Sigmund von Dülan. A few of the old Molsdorff names we found were Balthasar, Heinrich, Georg, Wolf and Markhart. The latter two men lived shortly before our time. Hieronymus and his brother, Matthias Weller von Molsdorff were received in a very friendly manner by distant relatives of the Molsdorff family when they visited in Plauen, Voigtland.

As far as the name Molsdorff is concerned, I (Hieronymus) do not agree with those who try to connect it with names of places, cities, lands, waters, or mountains. Some try to fit Greek and Latin words together, but this often becomes awkward. Some want to construct the name Molsdorff or Mollsdorff from the Latin words "mola, moles or mollis" and combine with the German word "dorf". Some go so far as to say Molsdorff should be Molbsdorff or Molchsdorff because the soil of the place was "molbich or molmich". Perhaps when the ground was prepared for building, "molche" (salamander) were found.

I (Hieronymus) prefer the meaning with those who trace the name back to the word "Mal or Maal".which the people in Thuringen pronounce "Mol or Mool". This change of the "a" for the "o" sound is not unusual, as in the case of the words "olt, wolt, gestolt" for "alt, Wald, gestalt" meaning old, wood and shape or form. "Mal" is a sign or goal for shooting or running and therefore this house could have received its name from the first person who was favored to build there, since he was given "Mal or Malzeichen". Signs or marks were put up by the authorities to establish the boundries of his possessions. Perhaps Schwanfelder and his wife,,who were the original builder of Molsdorff, named their home as they pointed out the markers of their vast estate. There were fields, woods, meadows and mountains included within its boundry markers of stone, trees and posts.

Others suggest that the meaning of "Mahl" may refer to a meal. Family meals are of course very important, morning and evening especially, or at special times as weddings, banquets or after the chase or hunt. There is a word "mallum" in the old German lawbooks which refers to the meal allowed a prisoner. Molsdorff may have been the place where courts were held, people being called together when there was something to announce or to be decided, at which times a meal would be provided.

But I (Hieronymus) want to give my opinion since I believe the name Molsdorff came frome the word "vermählen" meaning "to marry". In pronouncing these words the "a" often sounds like "o" and this definition is in agreement with the ancient narrative about the Schwanfelder von Molsdorff family beginnings, castle and Crest.

THE ANCIENT LEGEND OF THE MOLSDORFF BEGINNING

There was a King of Thuringen who had one true and faithful serving man, named Schwanfelder, who was born in Zwickau in Saxony. The young man fell in love with one of the Queen's serving maids, but since he was poor, he had nothing to offer her. The Queen noticed that Schwanfelder paid special attention to this young maiden as he served them all at the King's table. After consulting with the young woman, the Queen found her to be aware of this young man's feelings toward her and that she was humbly devoted to him and knew only the best concerning him. So far he had said nothing to her, and of course it was not her place to approach him, especially since her life and person were pledged to the service of her Gracious Queen, whom she had no wish to displease.

The Queen answered that in her opinion the young maiden should marry Schwanfelder if she herself wished to do so. The Queen said there would be an opportunity to discuss this with the King when they were gathered together on the hunting trip which was being arranged. After some entertainment on the green meadow near the trees, there would be a meal and at that time she would discuss this matter with her lord, the King.

Thus it came to pass, that with the approval of his King and Queen, Schwanfelder proposed marriage to the young maiden whom he loved. Without a moment's hesitation she accepted him and they stood before the King's Chaplain and were married. A twig from a nearby tree (laurel) was placed on their heads. This new bridegroom, who was so blessed with happiness and honors, had not a ring to place on the finger of his bride. The King drew from his own finger a golden ring with a large ruby and gave it to Schwanfelder, who placed it on her finger.

After the marriage they all sat down at the King's table and were served, gay and happy with the newly-weds. The King gave the young married couple a magnificant gift of a large acreage consisting of woods and meadows surrounding the very spot on which the marriage had taken place. The King raised his faithful servant to nobility.

I (hieronymus) truely think that this story was the beginning of the Molsdorff Family. The noble Schwanfelder named his home Molsdorff and the family crest is a picture of the ancient beginnings.

INTRODUCTION

The Molsdorff Crest is a shield of heavenly blue on which two long white upright necks and heads of swans are displayed. The swans face each other and together hold high in their beaks the golden ring with large ruby setting. Above the shield, among the breast feathers of two swans, rests a golden helmet with open face mask, and above this the holding the ruby ring. A golden wreath of laurel leaves was added to the Crest and placed on the helmet in 1547 as an honor awarded to Alexander Weller by his King, Carl V. Alexander Weller was an artist at jewel carving.

Albertus Magnus wrote concerning the Crest, that swans show their particular friendly feelings by rubbing their necks against one another bowing and smoothing when they want to mate and thus manifest their mutual love.

The ring is a symbol of love, for as the ring has no end or point so shall the love between two married people last for ever and ever. As round as the ring so shall two married people be united and close to each other remain. As the ring is golden and made of the best metal, so also shall the love between a married couple be of the highest and noblest kind. The brilliant red ruby stands for steady, heartfelt love and faithfulness. Therefore the Molsdorff Crest is an artful mirror of wise design depicting unadulterated love throughout.

Dr. Hieronymus Weller von Molsdorff gives the following meaning to the Crest: the one swan stands for wisdom and foresight, and the other swan for a model of the well spoken word. There were several excellent examples in the Molsdorff family by men gifted with these virtues, helping to light the way for others. A particularly good example is Herr Nickel Weller von Molsdorff, who was the first to use the name WELLER.

The fact that both swans are holding the one ring in their beaks is to be a sign of brave and honest cooperation by all holding to truth and faith. At all times this standard was to be followed by the people of the Molsdorff Family, and the branch called WELLER, signifying that all were in love and faith united. The laurel wreath stands for conquest and reward for honest deeds and praiseworthy virtues, the golden helmet exemplifies honorable protection of the poor, the miserable and the innocent ones.

So much for the origin of the Molsdorff Family, name and Crest. Where and why the name WELLER was added will be explained later.

INTRODUCTION

After Schwanfelder had built the Molsdorff Castle, he took his bride to their new home and children began to arrive. Since the King had raised him to nobility, other noble families became friendly with them and their children. Through the ensuing generations, the Molsdorff Family held to its high standards so that many of the distinguished people of nobility became their friends.

During the time the WELLER branch of the Molsdorff Family had lived in Meissen, they had intermarried with the following families:

The von Berbisdorff from Lauterstein
The von Weidenbach
The von Thschurren of Tzschurren
The von Mergenthal
The von Miltitz
The von Minckwitz
The Muntzer from Lawenstein
The Freiberg from Thurnhoff and Freibergsdorff
The Haussmann, one good old noble family of Freiberg
The von Polentz
The von Pirckingen in Oesterreich
The Embsgeissern of Algete
The Gulden, an old noble family in Zwickau
The Beerlin or Berlern in Schwaben
The von Carlwitz
The von Gersdorff of Dobeluck
The von Breitenbach of Nickern
The von Leibnitz of Lebenau
The von Röteritz
The Rülcken of Greusse
The Haussmann of Halsbach

The Ziegeler
The von Ende
The von Einfiddel
The von Zednitz
The von Rayn
The Trena
The Trebsen
The von Kettwitz

I (Hieronymus) will now present what I found concerning the records and family-tree of the Molsdorff family and tell, in genealogical order, what I have learned from the histories by Johann Kentmann and Michael Rudels, Secretary to the Elector of Saxony, and from other sources.

In the year 950 after the birth of Christ, the noble, esteemed knight, Rudolf von Molsdorff became a hero in his speech and with his fists in the Battle of Augsburg under the leadership of Kaiser Otto himself. Supposedly, Rudolf had helped to conquer the Laussnitzer Wend, who had rebelled because Kaiser Otto had fought against the Pope in Italy and against King Beringer of Lombard.

Rudolf was the only von Molsdorff name found in the Tournament Book in 965 in Marsburg, Graue Ridag, Margrave of Meissen was present also in this tournament.

Another Rudolf von Molsdorff called the younger was raised at the Court of the Margrave Eckebrecht of Saxony and Thuringen. He became skilled in knightly practices. It was said he killed himself in the Cloister Polste in 1002. However, in 1015 it was recorded that a Rudolf von Molsdorff fought against the Poles. In the Tournament Book a Rudolf von Molsdorff is remembered to have fought in the 6th Tournament about 1019 at Trier, where the statement was made that he was to be raised to nobility with 39 others. In the 9th Tournament some said he conquered his opponent and others said he was defeated.

"But who can believe the Tournament Book? Since there is a great error in the 6th Tournament report, where it says that Kaiser Conrad had arranged that Tournament in 1014. At that time Conrad was Duke of Franken and did not become Kaiser until 1024, after which he fought many wars and signed the peace in 1031. Whatever is in the Book of Tournaments which one cannot believe exactly, I (Cyrus Spangenberg) have noted in the 38th chapter of my first book,Quernfurtischen Chronicle." Spangenberg is doubtful again that such an old knight as the first Rudolf would ride in a Tournament of such importance.

Hans von Molsdorff, an esteemed, pious, upright, manly hero lived in 1100. He fought in 1110 in the Bohemian War or Battle. It is recorded that he was in the Tournament at Göttingen. Duke Ludolff gives this name wrong in his Tournament Book saying that no such person was living at that time. However, the record states that Duke Luther of Saxony, Graue of Supplenburg, and the noble Herr von Duernfurt were with Hans at the time.

After these notices Hieronymus Weller, found no mention of the name Molsdorff in any printed book. "No doubt in the Voigtland and Meissen Cloisters," he suggested, "many records of these fine knightly heroes could be found, whose complete genealogy could be pieced together from inscriptions on cemetery monuments."

It is not clear to me (Hieronymus) when the Molsdorff family moved from Thuringen into Voigtland. Some say about 1357 when the Russians accepted them in Plauen. But I think that those 64 noble families were not satisfied with their over-lord, Albrecht, who wanted to disinherit both of his sons, the Margrave of Meissen and the Landgrave at Thuringen in favor of Kaiser Adolf of Thuringen. Since the nobles were pledged by oath to honor the young living heirs, they could be loyal to no one else. Thus the old Albrecht and Kaiser Adolf became the enemy and the noble families were banished from the land. The families settled in many places, the von Molsdorff families in Voigtland.

HIERONYMUS WELLER VON MOLSDORFF, S.S. THEOL. DOCTOR, PROFESSOR & GYMNASII FREIB. INSPECTOR. NAT. FREIBERGÆ Aº 1499 MORTU. IN PATRIA 20 MARTI 1572

REDRAWN BY R.S. WELLER
JUNE 18, 1978

WELLER ANCESTRY OF DR. HIERONYMUS (JEROME) WELLER von MOLSDORFF
(1499 - 1572)

Around the year 1400 one member of the von Molsdorff family, whose name I (Hieronymus) do not know, lived in Voigtland. He was a good man rich in money and land. In the year 1430 he went into the town of Plauen, Voigtland with many other noble people. He died about the same year. He had several sons who, after their father's death divided their inheritance, some receiving land and others money.

The youngest son was named Nickel von Molsdorff who showed great intelligence and wisdom as he made his choice. Nickel thought of people he knew where two or more brothers lived on the same piece of land, so close together they could greet one another too easily. Although the brothers could probably get along nicely, the wives and often the servants brought rifts and quarrels between them. At first the differences were light, but these grew with anger and jealousy. He knew also that father's estate was bordered by Bohemialand and many of the little border town, land and houses had been destroyed by the Hussites.

Nickel heard stories that silver mining in Meissen was developing at a great rate. Songs and stories were proclaiming Freiberg as a good place to live, and that many were becoming wealthy. Many of the nobility were moving into the silver mining areas, some becoming Counselors and others Bürgermasters, holding important civic positions. The names of these nobles are in the records and can be proven: von Weickhart, Nickel von Hartitsch, Dietherich Marschaick, Hans and Caspar von Berbisdorff, Hans von Stetten, Grasmus Kolwig, Wiegand Ziegler, Jobst Kraen and many more.

Accordingly, the young Nickel von Molsdorff chose his part of the inheritance in money, He moved to Freiberg where he bought several mines (pieces of mountains) and many acres of land. He came to great fortune and great honors. So it came about that Nickel von Molsdorff had"chosen well" to take his fortune in money which he invested wisely. Far and near people said, "The wähler has hit it luckey." Nickel chose right and invested well. He was known as "Freiberg-of-the-mountain-folk." He was called "the Wähler" (voter, chooser, elector). The spelling changed a number of times - Wäller - Wehler - Woeller," the spelling my ancestor used about 1540" said Gustav A. Weller - WELLER.

Whether Nickel used the "von Molsdorff" or not I (Hieronymus) do not know, but the WELLER addition came after his first name as ______ von Molsdorff, called the Weller. Gradually the von Molsdorff was abandoned. This is the case in many other noble families; von Schlitz, called Gorts, or von Merle, called Behem.

It had not been uncommon up to this time that people of nobility had taken on the name of the place where they had settled, or if they had been in a foreign land for a time, or had done an outstanding deed, or if something special had happened to them, they took it as their name and this added name was passed on to their descendants. A family in Saxony with the name Erbmarchalck of Pretsch changed their name to Rhefeldt-Lösser, because they owned a picture or mounting of a deer (Reh) and earned their livelihood at the lottery. The one who draws the "lot" is called the löser.

Some say that Nickel Weller von Molsdorff had been on a religious pilgrimage (wallen) and from this the name Wäller and Weller.

Be it as it may, it is certain Nickel Weller von Molsdorff was the first to use the name WELLER. (The date, ca 1430, was only about 69 years before Hieronymus was born, his great grandson. M.W.) This man who lived in Freiberg in Meissen had become wealthy and used his riches wisely and in good works. Besides the silvermines, he had invested in property, an estate in Tuttendorff, another, the Hals estate, and a third was inherited from old Caspar Berbisdoff who had bought the Castle Lauterstein at Marienberg. Thus Nickel had started in an honest way according to his nobility and lived from his rents, profits and income.

Nickel Weller was an intelligent, wise, honest, upright, well thought of man who was considerate of others. In appearance he was a fine, tall, stately person with grey beard and a little grey hair on his nearly bald head. He was friendly and generous toward everyone. Many loved him and honored him, both the common people and the nobility. He was highly respected by the Margrave of Meissen. The people of Freiberg chose him as Counselor and to be their Bürgemaster, to which the Margrave gave his consent. To the nobility of the time these positions were considered to be a high honor, especially in the larger important cities.

Since Nickel Weller von Molsdorff had become the Bürgemaster he wished to please everyone and wished to be remembered by his descendants as an honorable and respected man. Therefore many good deeds are attributed to him.

In 1448 Nickel Weller bought the Custom-house at Freiberg from Counselor Apel von Bitzthumb, with its courtyard and carriages, and the waterworks. Besides this he paid Caspar von Berbisdorff for his advice and released the people from paying customs. He bought two villages, Milsdorff and Berthelsdorff which benefited the villages greatly. Above the door of the City Hall in Freiberg one can still (1590) see the Molsdorff Crest.

Nickel Weller had in mind to connect the City Hall with the house of Caspar Olbers with a passageway like the City Hall in Plauen, Voigtland. This he would do with his own money hoping it would cost only about 200 gülden and involve no risk. Other Bürgemasters, Hans von Stetten, Jost Krah and Caspar von Schönberg were angered by all of this generosity. These men were less wealthy and could not do so much for their people. Thus the building was abandoned.

Nickel Weller established a spiritual investure and an altar in St.

Peters Church in Freiberg with an annual income in honor of the Holy Virgin and two apostles, Thomas and Bartholomus. The martyred Donati and the 11,000 virgins, an old superstition, were also honored by this gift. This was done in 1449 for the salvation of his descendants and for their blessing. Johann Hoffman of Schweidnitz, the 38th Bishop of Meissen and last Rector of the German Nation was confirmed the gift.

The following story of Nickel Weller von Molsdorff reveals what an upright and good man he was. At the time (1446) there were two Dukes of Saxony, the Prince-Elector Frederick II and his brother Duke Wilhelm. They quarrelled over dividing their inheritance and even fought against one another. The Margrave of Brandenburg and the Landgrave of Hessen tried in vain to help them come to a settlement. About 1450 there was a great disagreement over this heritage and the two opposite sides came to actual war. It was provided in the will that the dukes were to take equal parts of the City and mines. They quarrelled about the division and the Council and the whole community were dismayed not knowing on whose side to stand.

The Prince-Elector Frederick moved his soldiers into the City of Freiberg where they made camp in the market place. He himself took possession of the Castle. He demanded that the citizens follow his leadership against his brother. If they did not they might lose all of their possessions and perhaps even their lives. He demanded that the Counselors present themselves before him to state their position in this tumult.

A conference was called by the Council members to meet at the City Hall to come to a decision that they could present to the Prince-Elector. Each Councelor had blessed his family at home and had reminded them to pray often. Then the men assembled at the City Hall where they shook hands and promised to hold together to live or die. They then took anoath to support the Prince-Elector Frederick and hoped that with God's help he would become reconciled with his brother and there could be peace. The Council decided that they would remain faithful and obedient,the loving subjects of the Prince-Elector Frederick. But if the Elector still conspired against his brother, they would rather have death than lose their faith and their souls.

The Council members then marched, bareheaded with their shrouds under their arms, Nickel Weller in the lead. They marched up to the Prince-Elector who sat on his horse. A great throng of the people had gathered to hear the decision of the Council. In his right hand Nickel held the keys to the City and to his own money which he extended toward the Elector. Brave and sincere in the face of personal danger for his own life from the hangman, he addressed the Elector before thousands of the people. "Highly Esteemed, Highly Born, Most Gracious Prince-Elector; We poor subjects appear here today at your command, willing and obedient to do whatever you desire. We know that you are wise, a good Christian and believe in God, doing everything wisely and in honor of God. None of your subjects shall give reason for complaint or act in any way to cause remorse, for we would rather die than have a bad conscience. We are content to be on the side of the Prince-Elector and will with pleasure fulfill all of his wishes. We bring the keys to the City. We want to forgive Duke Wilhelm and desire to revere only the Prince-Elector Frederick. If we should disobey, we desire that "our heads shall be laid at your feet". I stand here with body and soul in your hands, and I would rather lose my old grey head than be untrue to you."

After the Elector had heard this serious talk, he pondered it. Then coming up to Nickel Weller, patted him on his shoulder and praised him for his statement. "My brother and I can depend upon you, and we will try to be peaceful." This history was written in Latin verse in the Chronicle of Johannes Becerus and also by Georg Fabricius who wrote about the Prince-Elector Frederick II and his brother Duke Wilhelm.

Some five years later two young princes of Saxony were kidnapped by Kuntz von Kauffung. The people of Freiberg captured him and he was held prisoner in the City Hall. He said to Nickel Weller, "How, Mr. Bürgermaster, is there no justice today?" Nickel answered him, "Today, without necessity, we sit in justice." The kidnapper was executed soon after.

THE FAMILY OF NICKEL WELLER von MOLSDORFF

#1. Herr Nickel Weller von Molsdorff was born about 1400, Voigtland (Johnsgrun, Voigtland and died May 22, 1457, Freiberg, Saxony (GAW). He wastwice married, first to ______________________ Karis (some said Hartitsch) by whom he had two children, Anna and Paul. The second marriage was to Apollonia Spiegel von Gruna who lived to the advanced age of 70 years. Only one daughter was born in this marriage, Barbara. Nickel Weller was buried in St. Peters Church in Freiberg, the church to which he had given so much.

#1a. *Anna Weller married the nobleman, Hans von Leibnitz of Liebenau.

* Anna Weller, common-law wife of Frederick the Wise, by whom he had two sons. He did not marry. THE WORLD AND MEN AROUND LUTHER by Walter G. Tillman, page 124.

#1b. Paul Weller von Molsdorff was born about 1430 in Freiberg and died at the age of 80 years and was buried in St. Peters Church in Freiberg with other members of his family. Paul was a short person and in this unlike his father. He was a good, religious and honest young man who inherited wealth and property from his father. He had inherited a ststely and elegant house in the City of Freiberg and the Tuttendorf and Hals estates.

Paul was approched by Alchenists and Goldmakers with smooth words and false statements. He believed their lies and falsely praised art. He was deceived and lost a part of his inheritance. People believe too readily things they are told and have a tendency to lose valuable possessions, not only money. There are many people who are too easily "taken in" by smooth speech, good, well-meaning and intelligent people.

During his father's life Paul lived on the Tuttendorf estate where his children were born. After his father's death, Paul became Bürgermaster of Freiberg. His appointment was confirmed by the Duke of Saxony, and many have said that he filled the position with honor. He was honest and faithful to the City of Freiberg and donated a great deal to the Parish at Tuttendorff.

Paul chose for his first a beautiful young maiden from the Hartitsch family who died after three years of marriage. Paul and his father were greatly grieved. There were two children born in this marriage, Vincent and Anna. Paul married second, Dorothea Berbisdorff in 1449. Five sons and six daughters were born, Hans, Nickel, Gregor, Jacob, Paul, Katherine, Dorothea, Magdalena, Margaretha, Ursula and Barbara.

#1c. Barbara Weller von Molsdorff married the nobleman, Melthiorn von Berbisdorff of Lauterstein. Her dowery was five thousnd gülden. After the death of her first husband, Barbara married the noble Georg von Tzschirn and she lived to be a very old matron. There were no children born in her marriages. Dr. Hieronymus Weller (1499 - 1572) knew and loved this woman who was his great aunt. It was she and her husband who helped Barbara (Böch) Weller and her children (Hieronymus was one of them) after the death of her husband, Hans Weller, when much of the inheritance was lost to them because of mismanagement by the guardians.

THE THIRTEEN CHILDREN OF PAUL WELLER von MOLSDORFF

#1b1. Vincent Weller von Molsdorff was born about 1446 (GAW) in Freiberg, Saxony, He was a joyful, brave and studious child. one could always find Vincent with the churchmen. His mother had died when he was very young. As he became old enough for school his step-mother advised her husband to send him to the Augustine Cloister. He was very unhappy there and could not get along with the monks. There was an actual fight in which some of the monks were wounded. He escaped unhurt from the Cloister. His father was very angry and Vincent dared not go to see him, but went to Italy where he continued his study of Holy Script. He received his Doctorate and became a Professor. He was held in high esteem and everyone liked to hear him lecture.

In body he was a tall, beautiful, a strong and very learned person. He did not live long, becoming suddenly ill and died. There is some thought that there was foul play in his sickness, since there was jealousy among some of his fellow workers that people should prefer a German Professor to one of their own Italian Doctorates.

#1b2. Anna Weller von Molsdorff married the noble Heinrich vo Königsdorff.

#1b3. Hans Weller von Molsdorff will be discussed later since the Weller family was continued by him.

#1b4. Nickel Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1452 and died about 1507. He was very much interested in hunting. He came to the Court of the Margrave at Colditz where he became a young nobleman and served the Margrave for a long time through his hunting ability. He never married, became blind and died in his 55th year.

#1b5. Katharina Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1454. She married Caspar von Mergenthal who with the Duke of Albrecht of Saxony traveled in 1476 to the Holy grave in Jerusalem. Caspar and Katharine had one son, Caspar and one daughter, Anna. Hieronymus pointed with pride to the fact that this marriage produced the two distinguished lines, Minckwitz and Schönberg.

#1b5a. Caspar married a Breittenbach and lived in Freiberg. There were no children.

#1b5b. Anna married Caspar von Minckwitz and there were ten children.

#1b5b1. Erasmus became a Dr. of Law
#1b5b2. Hans; #1b5b3. Georg; #1b5b4. Wolff;
#1b5b5. Abraham of Trebsen; #1b5b6. Caspar of Trena who was associated with Kaiser Maximillian in Constantinople; #1b5b7. Katharine who married von Falskenstein; #1b5b8. Helen; #1b5b9. Kungund; #1b5b10. Anna who married Wolff von Schönberg of Schona, Warlord of Saxony. Five children were born to this marriage.

a. Caspar von Schönberg, the King's Fieldmarshall.
b. Hans Wolff married a Carlwitz of Kribstein.
c. Georg.
d. Anna who married Rudolf von Oersdorff of Dobraluck.
c. Martha who married Apel Rütck of Greusse.

#1b6. Dorothea Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1457. She was married twice, first to Erhart Münster of Lamenstein, the son of Erhart and Orthe (Weller) Münster of an honorable and noble family. (I find no record for Orthe Weller. (M.W.) Dorothea Weller's father-in-law was a very wealthy man who had offered to lead the Mulda River through Freiberg at his own expense. Many noblemen wished to marry their daughters to him, but his heart and love were only for the beautiful, Orthe Weller from Freiberg.

Dorothea's husband was a Knight with Duke Heinrich of Saxony in the Holy Land at Jerusalem. Paul von Münster was the only child born to Erhart and Dorothea. He became Abbott in the Cloister in Silesia, not far from Sitta. One can still (1590) find his name on his gravestone with the Münster and Weller Crests.

After the death of her husband, Dorothea married the honorable Caspar Freiberg, the elder one living at Tornhoff. No children were born. He had been married to a daughter of Captain Nickel von Monheupt at Freiberg. There were four children from his first marriage:

- Anna Freiberg who married Valten Hausman
- Wolf Freiberg was an experienced soldier, became a Knight in the Holy Land.
- Caspar Freiberg at Turnhoff, long time a Duke at the Prussian Court and married Anna of Ragwitz
- Bastian Freiberg married Anna Topffer. Their children:
  - Caspar Freiberg who died in Hungrey
  - Wolff who married Anna Gruner
  - Bastian in France
  - Heinrich, Anna, Martha, Katharina.

#1b7. Magdalena Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1460 and married Andreas von Kalen.

#1b8. Gregor Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1464 at Tuttendorff.

#1b9. Paul Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1468. He was a student of history and literature. He evidently wrote and talked well because people liked to listen to him. He went to the Court of Duke Georg of Saxony as a young man where he worked and studied. He became a nobleman. He was tall and strong, a large man who towered above the other nobles. He was not married and died at the age of 50.

#1b10. Margaretha Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1472 at Tuttendorff on the next Tuesday after Christ's Assension Day. She married Nickel Haussmann, who was the Mint- Master at Freiberg. Three sons were born: Nickel, Valten, Hans.

Nickel Hausmann became Minister or Parson of the Holy Work on the Snow Mountains in 1522. He had trouble with the other priests and false prophets of Satan. Marcus Storch was mentioned as being a particularly rebellious sacremental enthusiast, a fanatic. Later Nickel became the Superintendent at Freiberg. He had become a good friend of Dr. Martin Luther and they corresponded a great deal. (Aletter was mentioned which contained much of this history. M.W.). He died at the age of 59.

Valten Hausmann was an excellent Musician. He married Anna Freiberg.

Hans Hausmann of Künersdorff and Halsbach was Mint-Master of Freiberg. He was also Bürgermaster. He was married three times, first to __________ von Steige and the second time to __________ Breittenbach and also the third wife was from the same family. Five children are listed:

Valten Hausmann who became Mint-Master and Bürgermaster of Freiberg.
__________ Hausmann who married Hieronymus Alnbeck
Bastian Hausmann of Halsbach, married __________ Münker.
Georg Hausmann of Tuttendorff
Wolff Hausmann who became an Army Captain, married Rosina Greuin.

#1b11. Ursula Weller von Molsdorff married Jacob Meusich who bought the Tuttendorff estate after Hans Weller's death, from the Guardians of the orphaned children and their mother, Barbara (Böch) Weller, for very little money. (See 1b3) Five children:

Christoff Meusich married __________ Alnbeck and they had a son, Christoff who married Veronica, daughter of Thomas Rudolf of the Elector's Council, whose mother was of the Maltitz family of the Wendish Bora. To this marriage __ children: Rudolf, Christoff, and Heinrich. Katharina who married Melchior of Milkaw and had a number of children: Martha, Magdalena, Veronica and Anna are listed.

#1b12 & #1b13. Barbara Weller the 6th daughter and Jacob Weller both died young.

NOTE

I, Hieronymus Weller von Molsdorff know that in some registers concerning the children of Paul Weller the marriages of the daughters differ from my account. For example that Katharina married Nickel Hausmann, Dorothea married Caspar von Mergenthal, Magdalena married Erhart Müntzer and Margaretha married Hans Kalen. But I have better information about this.

Now I will take up the story of Hans Weller von Molsdorff.

#1b3. Hans Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1450 at Tuttendorff and was the father of Hieronymus (Jerome) Weller, author of this ancient story of Weller beginnings. Hans was an intelligent young man and his parents saw to it that he learned to read, write and studied arithmetic. He was sent out to good people so that he would see and hear intelligent conversation and learnhow to work. Thinking that he might become useful, intelligently he traveled to Poland and the Netherlands before settling down and getting married.

The earthly possession of Hans Weller were Tuttendorff, the Hals estate and his home in Freiberg where he became Counselor and Regent and after the death of his father, Bürgermaster of Freiberg. He can be favorably compared with his grandfather, the old Nickel Weller. He was God-fearing and admired by the clergy, a father to the widows and orphans, protector of the poor and saviour of the suppressed. He was a large, strenge, manly, upright and friendly man. As an earnest, pious, honest Regent he showed justice in supporting benefits and freedom for the people. He was therefore feared, honored and loved by the citizens.

Because of his high intellect, his sincere heart and honesty, he was held in high esteem by the Dukes of Saxony, Georg and Heinrich, who consulted him in matters of worldly affairs. One time, so the story goes, the Dukes took the advice of Hans Weller over that of nine Doctors of Law.

Hans lived a simple life, sober and retired and no one ever saw him drunk. One time Duke Georg offered him a drink which he refused, saying that he would rather not drink away his fortune even with three Princes, so far superior to him. He said that God's words were his guide: "Do not fill yourself with wine, for your life will become disorderly." He got up from the table, but the Duke asked him to sit down again and promised he would respect his wishes. This virtue and devotion pleased the Duke and he praised Hans as being honest, sensible and frank.

Hans Weller was married three times. His first wife ________ von Grauschwitz brought a dowery of 8000 gülden. One son, Wolffgang and one daughter, Christina were born. Their mother died soon after this.

Ursula von Schönberg was the second wife of Hans Weller. She was the daughter of Caspar von Schönberg and a good wife who bore two sons and two daughters: Hans, Heinrick, Margaretha, Regina. To Ursula's deathbed came two monks to comfort her with their prayers, vigil and Mass, and to do the best they could to get forgiveness for her. She snatched the crucifix out of the Monk's hand, pressed it against her breast and said, "Christ must do it. He is my Saviour, my Redeemer and has done enough for my sins and paid for them." Soon after this she died. When Hieronymus (Jerome) Weller told this story at Dr. Luther's table, Luther said, "Such people doubtless die a blessed death as they depend alone on Christ."

Hans Weller married Barbara Böck, daughter of the honorable Hans Böck who was Chamberlain for Duke Ernst, Elector of Saxony. Her mother was Barbara, daughter of Nickel von Monheupt, the richest nobleman in Meissen. He had given 2000 gülden to Thumb Church at Freiberg and several thousand gülden to Thumb Church at Meissen. He was a stately, handsome man with pretty light blond, curly hair. His wife was of good nobility, a virtuous fine person who bore him fine, beautiful daughters. One daughter, Christina von Monheupt married Bastian von Berbisdorff, another Barbara was chambermaid to the wife of Duke Ernest and married Häns Böck. It was their daughter, Barbara who married Hans Weller. There were eight children born to Hans and Barbara (Böck) Weller: Barbara, Magdalena, Hieronymus, Peter, Nickel, Alexander, Matthias, and Hans (Gotth was added to this Hans name as found by GAW, Gustav A. Weller). The total number of children from the three marriages was fourteen.

One time at a dance the Bürgermaster, Jacob von Steige said to Barbara Böck, "God will bless you as you are marrying a very intelligent man, I know you will have many fine children." This prediction of the Bürgermaster was fulfilled. She was loved and honored all of her life and lived with her husband peacefully and reverently. Their son, Dr. Hieronymus Weller gave her the rank of Matron Saint Ann Elisabeth. Barbara's grandfather, Nickel von Monheupt died in 1475 and was buried in Thumb Church. In 1494 her mother, Barbara (von Monheupt) Böck died and was buried in the same church.

Hans Weller (1) of Tuttendorff and Hals died on October 17, 1509. He was 59 years old and Bürgermaster of Freiberg. He was buried in St. Peters Church with his ancestors. Shortly before his death, he lay on his bed and the Monks came often to comfort him. When Barbara told him that they had arrived he said to her, "Oh, dear Barbara, my heart, leave them outside, I have comfort enough." He showed her a painted crucifix and added, "Jesus Christ has paid for all of my sins at the Holy Cross. He is my comfort and this crucifix reminds me of it." On his grave one can see the inscription of the Weller Crest in brass.

Because all of his children were not of age, they had to have guardianship. In 1511 the inheritance was divided in spite of the expressed disagreement of many. The sale of Tuttendorff and Hals estates brought about 1550 gülden, to which was added money from the sale of farm equipment needed for farming the many acres. Wagons, 12 horses, plows, a few swine and sheep, grain, nets for hunting were all sold. The mill was purchased by the Council at Freiberg.

Han Weller's children had fought against this sale, but in vain. Georg von Tzschirn, the second husband of Barbara Weller, daughter of Nickel Weller and great aunt to the children of Hans Weller, helped them purchase Meussgen at Hausdorff which, with the poor people living there, became the home of the widow, and her young children.

Barbara (Böck) Weller died in 1530 about 21 years 8 months after her husband's death. She was buried in the Cloister at Freiberg. Afterwards this same church was destroyed to make way for houses. The graves were moved and Dr. Hieronymus and his brother, Matthias took their beloved mother's bones to the Thumb Church Cemetery.

THE FOURTEEN CHILDREN OF HANS WELLER I

#1b3a. Wolffgang Weller von Molsdorff was born about 1480 (GAW). He was a very strong person who could lift 400 pounds with no help. He was joyful, hearty and a brave hero. At one time he fought 24 Monks and they could not wound him. He was a soldier and for a time a nobleman at the Prussian Court. He took as his wife a maiden from the Güld family. There were no children and he died at the age of 50 years.

#1b3b. Christina Weller von Molsdorff died as a young woman.

#1b3c. Hans Weller II was born about 1489 in Freiberg. He became Mint-Master of Freiberg and married a young maiden of the Strassburg Family. He died at age 55 (October 31,1549 - GAW) and was buried in Thumb Church at Freiberg. Four sons and three daughters:

#1b3c1. Hans Weller III was a strong, hearty, keen man who became a soldier. (Born 1490 Freiberg - GAW) He was active in Denmark for a time, and also served the people of Venice on the Canals and on the land. He had three sons and one daughter:

#1b3c1a. David Weller was born 1525 in Freiberg (GAW)
#1b3c1b. Hans Weller IV died at age 20 in Dresden. (1527 - 1547 GAW)
#1b3c1c. Nickel Weller (1530 - 1596 Freiberg - GAW) Like his father visited in foreign lands serving Dukes, Margraves and other nobles in Hungrey.

#1b3c2. Valentine Weller (Born about 1492 - GAW) Died in foreign lands.

#1b3c3. Paul Weller (ca 1494 - 1545 GAW) was the Elector's Mint-Master in Dresden. He was married twice. Paul died in Dresden. Dorothea Kentman was Paul's first wife and to this marriage four daughters and three sons were born:

#1b3c3a. Paul Weller (ca 1542 Dresden - GAW)
#1b3c3b. Christoff Weller (1546 Dresden - GAW)
#1b3c3c. Heinrich Weller (ca 1548 Dresden - GAW)
#1b3c3d. Rosina Weller (ca 1552 Dresden - GAW)
#1b3c3e. Martha Weller (ca 1558 Dresden - GAW)
#1b3c3f. Helen Weller (ca 1559 Dresden - GAW)

#1b3c4c. Hans Weller (1546 Dresden GAW)
#1b3c4d. Margaretha Magdalena (1548 Dresden GAW, who also added the Margaretha)

#1b3c4e. Georg Weller (1540 Dresden GAW) was a gay young soldier hero of war living ten years in Hungrey. He was beloved by the Margrave of Serin and the Margrave of Maiol. He had about 12 horses under his care and in little skirmishes withthe enemy he always showed up well and had good luck. In 1583 the Turks invaded Wardin and other villages doing great damage. After some hard fighting they were driven away. The flag under which Georg was fighting was hit by the enemy and Georg took out after the Turkish soldier, wounding him. Georg was always eager to attack the enemy and sometimes narrowly escaped with his life. At times he would be surrounded with the enemy having advanced too far. He always defended himself well, and the enemy would have liked to have captured him alive. One time he fell from his horse and was supposed to be dead. The Turks were about to cut off his head to bring back to their people, when the Margrave of Maiol (Surperior General) drove them back and picked up the body of Georg Weller with great weeping. Georg died in his arms. This historical event was recorded by Sigmund Hager in which he told that Peter Weller (son of Dr. Hieronymus?) was also in Hungary and a Captain in the same regiment with Georg. Georg Weller left word that if he should not survive the battle, Peter weller should inherit his chains, rings, cash, several hundred ducat, his land, estate and several good horses.

#1b3c5. Helena Weller (1502 Freiberg GAW) married Magistrate Valentine Grauen (1496 - 1555) the Elector's Margrave of Freiberg. Two daughters: Helena married Conrad Kranwider four children: Georg, Moritz, Augustine, & Helena Rosina von Grauen.

#1b3e. Margaretha Weller (ca 1492 Freiberg GAW)

#1b3f. Regina Weller (ca 1494 Freiberg GAW) died unmarried.

#1b3g. Barbara Weller (ca 1495 - 1543 GAW) the first child in the third marriage of Hans and Barbara (Böck) Weller, married in 1525 the noble Georg von Lisskirchen, of an old German nobility which had its beginning some 400 years back according to the Chronicle of Cöln (spelled Köln and Cologne). A nobleman with this name had come with Kaiser Traiano and 40 other noble families to settle along the Rhine River at Cöln. The knight, Costin von Lisskirchen was of this family living about 1390 in Köln. The mother of Georg was a Bartold or Philiber and his grandmother an Alnbeck, Barbara (Weller) von Lisskirchen died in 1543 and was buried in St. Peters Church. Georg von Lisskirchen married a second time to Anna Marckhart, daughter of Dr. Marckhart. After the death of her husband, Anna married the honorable Hans Weidenbach. Barbara and Georg had two children:

- Georg von Lisskirchen died young.
- Barbara von Lisskirchen married the honorable Caspar von Grünrod at Braune, whose mother was a Gersdorff, and Grandmother a Burggrsu von Dona. His father's mother was a Breitbach. Their children:
  - Barbara von Grünrod
  - Hans von Grünrod, died in France before age 20.
  - Caspar Georg Christoff, died young in Hilbersdorff.
  - Anna, who was engaged to Nickel Weller.
  - Ursula married Hans von Leibnitz of Liebnau.
  - Margaretha Veronica

#1b3h. Magdalena Weller (1497 Freiberg GAW) married Donat Breu (1495 Weiskirchen GAW) the Margrave of Schlichen and the Secretary at Weiskirchen.

#1b3i. Hieronymus Weller von Molsdorff (1499 - 1572) was born on September 5, 1499 (Thursday) two months and 11 days younger than Johann Brentius and 3months and 18 days older that Justus Menius.

After his father's death (October 17, 1509) Hieronymus and his brother, Peter, were sent to school in Naumberg for three years. They stayed for a time with their cousin Frederick Böck and later with Johann von Kitscher, both of whom were Drs. of Law. Hieronymus and Peter helped the lawyers and studied very diligently, receiving their Baccalaureat degrees in 1518 when Peter was 17 and Hieronymus was 19 years of age. (More about Peter and the other brothers and sisters later. M.W.)

Hieronymus was eager to learn the Greek language and to be able to write and talk Latin. There was not much money for him to finish his studies, because the inheritance from his father had been sold for so little money. In 1523 he we to Zwickau to help in the schools where he became Superintendent after only two years.

He was highly regarded and had many friends who thought it would be a sin to God if they let him stay in this school service, when with more schooling he would be able to become a prominent man in the service of Dukes and many people. They summoned a council and decided to send him to Wittenberg University to study Law and especially the King's Law. He was very studious wanting very much to become a Doctor of Law. His uncle, Johann Böck, and cousin, Caspar von Mergenthal (son of his father's sister) gave him some money to help defray expenses.

Hieronymus Heard Dr. Martin Luther preach. Luther said that everyone strove for honor and possessions but gave little thought to God who punished those who scorned Him and who sinned against His Commandments. Hieronymus was deeply moved by these words and decided to turn his life and his studies into better ways. He gave up the study of Law and took up the study of the Bible and Theology under Martin Luther.

After two years at Wittenberg University, Dr. Luther took Hieronymus into his home and loved him as a son. Hieronymus loved and respected Martin Luther as his own father. Hieronymus tutored Luther's son and was the author of the well known record of the conversations of Luther and his students, Table Talk. He "sat at Luther's table" for eight years where he saw and heard much to improve his knowledge.

In 1535 Hieronymus received the Doctor of Theology degree. Dr. Luther was his president and Dr. Jonas his promoter. Although the pestilence raged in Wittenberg and held back many of the professors from attending, many men of importance came and took part in the ceremony. Dr. Johann Pomer, Parson at Wittenberg; Jeronymus Schurff, Dr. of Law; Augustus Schurff, Dr. of Medicine; Dr. Caspar Creutziger and Dr. Nicolaus Amsdorff, Theologians; Philip Melanchthop, school-master; M. Nicolaus Hausman, Superintendent at Freiberg and M. Georg Rörer were among those who attended the ceremony. The King of England had Robert Barus as a delegate, who five years later was burned at the stake because he did not approve of the King's illegal marriage. Doctor Hieronymus Weller considered his Doctorate the highest favor received from God and from the highest and most prominent teachers in Christendom.

Not long after, in 1536 he married Anna von Steige, whose guardian was Georg von Lisskirchen. The marriage was performed in the von Lisskirchen home and afterward the bride and groom returned to the Luther home in Wittenberg. Hieronymus was a Professor at the University . After about three years he was called to Freiberg.

The father of Anna von Steige was good looking, wise, intelligent, sensible and wealthy. He lived in Freiberg where he was Counselor and Chamberlain. He died in 1535. This man's father was very rich and had given 1000 gülden to Thumb Church. He had four wives, Ursula von Karis, Barbara, Dorothea von Schönberg and Martha. He died in 1501.

Anna (von Steige) Weller was a very virtuous matron, God fearing, motherly, loveable, looking after her children with great care, moderate, sober, and a good housekeeper. Dr. Hieronymus thanked God for this blessing of his fine marriage. Four children were born. A very close friend of Anna's was Prince Georg von Polentz who was a Chancelor to the Duke of Prussia.

In 1539 Duke Heinrich of Saxony was Counselor in Freiberg. At this time the Protestant Religion had become so strong that the Monks and Clergy (Catholic) were dismissed. This change opened the way for Theological Lectures and Dr. Martin Luther sent Dr. Hieronymus Weller to fill this position at Freiberg. Dr Jonas and Dr. Spalatin, young men who had just received their Doctorates, were sent to help Dr. Weller. Dr. Weller's lectures were so outstanding that many people of noble families sent their children to hear and learn from him. He filled this post for 22 years with great success.

Because of ill health he had to resign about 1561. However he was not idle during the last ten years of his life, but was called to help out in Denmark, Leipzig, Meissen and other places. Finally he had to admit the tasks were too strenuous, saying, "I would love to continue serving my fatherland, but it is becoming a very heavy burden." During all my life he had been writing and he continued this service to the end. During his life Hieronymus withstood numerous religious attacks.

In 1572 Hieronymus had a stroke. During his bedridden last days, he talked a great deal about future life. One night his son awoke to see a great bright light coming from his father's bedroom and he was greatly frightened. He awaken his father who said to him, "Dear son, have you never seen anything like this before? Those are the dear Angels, the Divine Spirits who guard me around here and protect me because of God."

Doctor Hieronymus Weller von Molsdorff died March 20, 1572 and was buried in Thumb Church. Michael Hemple wrote the ephitaph which was placed in brass on his gravestone. Michael Hempel's Latin Poem about the Weller von Molsdorff family is quite well known, and is included in the Latin form in these books. The story is very much the same as told here.

What kind of books Dr. Hieronymus Weller wrote and the Religious attacks directed toward him I (Spangenberg) have partly reported in Adelspiegels (Mirror of Nobility) Volume 7, Chapter 22.

THE CHILDREN OF HIERONYMUS & ANNA (von STEIGE) WELLER

#1b3i1. Margaretha Weller was born in 1540 and died in 1544. The death of his first child made a strong impression on Hieronymus. Shortly before her death she told her mother that she had a dream. She had seen a beautiful bride in lovely clothes and with a golden crown, standing in a meadow where little maidens in pretty white gowns with green wreaths were running about. The little girl said that if she were to die she wished to be clothed in the same way. There was more to the story as interpreted by her father.

#1b3i2. Hieronymus August Weller von Molsdorff was born August 22, 1548. He went to school in Wittenberg for a time, but because he was inclined toward Court life he went to Austria and lived for sometime with Wilhelm, Baron of Regendorff at Mollenburg. He married Ursula, daughter of the Honorable Christoff von Käyn of Dürren, Obersdorff. She died in 1587 and left one son, Siegfried.

#1b3i2a. Siegfried Weller was born about 1570 Wittenberg (GAW)

#1b3i3. Peter Weller was born December 2, 1550. He roamed through lands and became a good warrier in Denmark and Hungary. He served the Hungarians in their war against the Turks with Georg Weller, son of Zacharias Weller, which story has been told. Peter was often in great danger, not always because of war. For example, he was in the terrible fire at Fort Cantsche where many buildings were destroyed. He was in the rebellion between the Hungarians and Germans when there was great suffering and hunger because of lack of provisions. The people attacked each other, shooting, beating and yelling so that no one knew who was his friend and who was his enemy. In this tumult, Peter was often exposed to great danger. Many honorable noblemen were among these crazed people. Peter hid in the mountains until the trouble was remedied.

After he was free from his military commitment and paid for his services he returned home. Peter told his parents that he wished to become a professional soldier. Hieronymus knew his son to be God fearing and with high ideals and that he would make a good soldier. He gave him his blessing and predicted that he would do as well as his uncle.

Peter married Emerentian von Pirckingen. (Aronika - GAW).

#1b3i4. Anna Weller was born January 31, 1553 and married Hieronymus Schwaben in 1572.

To continue with the family of Hans I (1450 - 1509) and Barbara (Böck) Weller.

#1b3j. Peter Weller von Molsdorff was born February 20, 1502. After the death of his father (1509) Peter was sent with his brother, Hieronymus, to school at Naumberg where they received their first fundamentals. They studied very diligently and received their baccalaureat degrees in 1518. Peter was 17 and Hieronymus 19 years old. Peter was very much interested in languages and became a successful Linguist. In 1526 he traveled to Leifland looking for a master under whom he wished to study. He stayed for a while at the Court of the Bishop in Riga. From there he went to Prussia where he stayed with Georg von Polentz who was the Bishop of Samland. This man loved Peter Weller very much because of his honest character and his experience with languages. Peter became the Secretary due to his skill in Latin. He was a member of the Council.

After a little more than four years, Peter was called to the Court of Albrecht, Margrave of Brandenburg. Because of his great skill in languages, many virtues and manliness, Peter became a Court nobleman and was in many commissions and important legations. He was very much loved by the Prince.

Peter used the name of his old ancestor, Peter von Molsdorff, called the Weller. In 1531 the Prince wrote letters of introduction for Peter to many important Christian Kings, Clericks, worldly Electors, Princes and Prelates. Peter left the Court of Albrecht and traveled widely. He went first to Wittenberg where he studied Law for several years, living at the home of Dr. Martin Luther and sitting at his table where he learned a great deal. Luther said to him, "Peter you are a born scholar and God has given you great gifts, therefore we must thank Him."

At last Peter left Wittenberg and traveled through many foreign lands, accompanied some of the time with his brother, Hieronymus. In Hall, Saxony they saw each other for the last time. Peter said, "If God is willing that I return from the Holy Land, I will take you with me to Prussia where his Gracious Prince will make you a Bishop. A prophet has no value in his own fatherland."

Peter rode away on horseback with his two friends, Minckwitz of Schleinitz and Heinrich Schneidewein of Stolberg, both of whom were Doctors of Law. They visited Italy, Venice, Padua, Bononien, Rome and many other places. Peter stayed for awhile in Senis, where he received his Doctor of Law degree in 1534 at age 32. He was praised for his skills and virtues.

In 1535 Peter Weller von Molsdorff, called the Weller traveled to the Holy Land, passing through many beautiful kingdoms over lands and islands. He was Knighted in Jerusalem and soon after became very ill with a fever and discentery which made him very weak. He expected to die and wished to receive the Holy Sacrament. The Monks refused to give the Sacrament in the manner written by Christ since Peter had declared himself a non-Papist. They let him die without the Sacrament, saying that he would have gained his health if he had declared himself a Papist, a Christian.

Thus, this kightly intelligent and brave knight had to die among strangers in the year 1536, at the same place his Saviour had died. There could be a whole book written about Peter because of his intellect, honesty, manliness and good deeds.

After his death, the Monks found 500 kronen with his possessions which they kept. Georg von Schleinitz reported all of this to Dr. Hieronymus Weller.

#1b3k. Nickelaus Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1503. He traveled and studied, becoming a fine organist. He went to England where he was held in great esteem. He was also in Antorff and Cöln. He died in 1537 at age 34. He was not married, was an honorable, virtuous young man.

#1b3l. Alexander Weller von Molsdorff was born in 1505. He traveled to Italy staying in Venice, Antorff, Lubeck, Dantzig and other places. He was very skillful in cutting pictures and crests on jewels, a Master Artist.

Kaiser Carl V respected him highly, honoring him with the golden wreath of laurel leaves in 1547. This wreath was added to the original Schwanfelder von Molsdorff Crest and is pictured on the golden helmet as a crown. This addition makes the original ancient Crest definitly WELLER.

Alexander settled in Nürmberg, the first of the family to live there. He became a member of the Great Council. He had three wives. Alexander married first a widow by the name of Blod, whose maiden name was Embsgrsser, a noble family in Algew (Allgäu) in the Alps. Two children were born: Paul and Susanna.

The second wife was named Kornliu to whom two daughters were born: Dorothea and Magdalena.

The third wife was Veronica Beerler of Schwaben, who married after the death of Alexander, Martin Eisengrün from an old honorable family. Veronica's father was Lorentz Beerler, Bürgermaster of Dunckelspuhel, a wise, well read and well spoken man. He believe in Dr. Martin Luther, but reconverted to Papism before his death.

Alexander lived for a while in Hamburg, Lubeck, Luneberg and other places. Everyone thought highly of him and he lead an honest, retired life. He was a great beefactor and the world was thankful to him. He died in 1559 in Nürnberg at age 53.

THE CHILDREN OF ALEXANDER WELLER von MOLSDORFF

#1b3L1. Paul Weller was born November 21, 1536 and died January 24, 1602 at Nürnberg, Bayern (GAW). He went to Wittenburg University where he studied diligently and with his table mates at Dr. Luther's learned a great deal. He always found work in Italy and Germany when there was something to repair. He studied Medicine in the town of Tubingen under Dr. Leonhart Fuchsen who loved him like a son. Paul became Dr. of Medicine in 1562. He wanted to hear learned people in Italy, Venice, Padua, Rome, etc. where he traveled. Dr. Paul Weller was very sincere in his religious faith, dispised all corruption and sects. At that time there were many learned men who believed in Dr. Martin Luther and his teachings. Paul helped many of them in their sickness and often charged nothing for his service.

Dr. Paul Weller married Barbara Neuner, but there were no children.

#1b3L2. Susanna Weller (was born in 1539 and married as the second wife of Hans Tucker. His first wife was Magdalena Weller sister of Susanna. GAW)

#1b3L3. Dorothea Weller (was born June 19, 1548 in Nürnberg GAW) married Philipp Probst, business man and member of the great Council of Nürnberg.

#1b3L4. Helena Weller found by Gustav Weller(GAW) and not listed by Hieronymus. Born November 15, 1541 in Nürnberg. She became the second wife of Philipp Probst after the death of Dorothea.

#1b3L5. Magdalena Weller was born May 6, 1557 at Nürnberg. She married Hans Tücker at Ilkirchen, citizen of Strassberg.

#1b3m. Matthias Weller was born February 24, 1507 at Freiberg. Duke Heinrich of Saxony called him to his Court soon after his father's death (1509). He was educated at Court because he was a sweet little boy who was very much loved by the Duke. He became a good musician and organist and helped his benifactor often because he was a sensible and upright young man. Matthias stayed at the Court for 20 years.

After the death of Duke Heinrich, Matthias settled in Freiberg where he took charge of the Organ at Thumb Church, for which he was paid in food and clothes for his fine art and services. (Matthias Weller helped Dr. Luther and John Walter compose some of the Hymns. One of the best known was "Eine Feste Burg", A Mighty Fortress is Our God, Catherine, Wife of Luther by Clara S. Schriber, page 103). He became a member of the Council of Freiberg. Matthias and Hieronymus Weller visited other members of the von Molsdorff family.

On April 3, 1563 Matthias Weller died at age 56. He was buried in Freiberg in Thumb Church to which he left 500 gülden, 200 in the box for the poor, 60 gülden to help house the homeless and remembered some of his closest friends in his last will.

#1b3n. Hans Weller (Hans Gottlieb - GAW) was born March 29, 1509, 17 weeks after his father's death, Sunday July 29, 1509. Hans became Mint-Master at Freiberg. He had several sons and daughters.

#1b3n1. Paul Weller (born about 1540 Freiberg - GAW) became a Philosopher and Master of Art at Wittenberg University. He was Superintendent at Schwartzberg and a Parson at Huttenheim in Francken, Germany. Paul married Barbara Neuber at Nürnberg. To them six children were born:

#1b3n1a. Pancratus Weller (born about 1580 Freiberg - GAW)

#1b3n1b. Peter Weller (born 1572 Nürnberg - GAW, who also found the first marriage to Magdalena Schaupp who was born 1580 Nürnberg. He married second Anna Maria Planer - GAW). Two sons:

#1b3n1b1. Peter Weller (born about 1608 in Baslingen, Baden,Germany. Married Dorothea Toos, born April 3, 1608 in same place - GAW)

#1b3n1b2. Rudolf Weller (born September 4, 1609, Baslingen, Baden, Germany. Married Magda Tübingen who was born January 21, 1628 in the same place. Rudolf died in 1663. They had one daughter in the list submitted by Gustav Weller, Anna Maria born 1644 in Baslingen. She married Johann Erhard Renz who was born in 1635 in Esslinger, Baden, Germany. GAW)

#1b3n2. Johannes Weller (born May 8, 1573 Nürnberg - GAW)

#1b3n3. Martin Weller (born 1584 and died in 1600 - GAW)

#1b3n4. Matthias Weller died young

#1b3n5. Anna Weller died young

That much of the story of this honest, good, old noble family was reported by Cyrus Spangenberg, the German Historian, which in his words, "is now decreasing and dieing out". I (Cyrus Spangenberg) have attempted to learn how God has been able to awaken some men for worldly or spiritual purposes and to rule them as examples for others. One can find the history of this noble family with beautiful examples of consistency, wisdom, moderation and high ideas in a dedication to Christian living. This history is written to honor these men, but also to point to the everlasting qualities which support their greatness.

Even the noblest and most praiseworthy of Jews, Greeks, Romans, and Germans had climbed very high, but finally decreased again and some were extinguished so that without their names one does not know much about their descendants. Where are now the descendants of Abraham and David and some of the Greek and Roman families, so important in the history of their day? God will keep all of the names of these good people in the name of Christ.

In the Name of God and Saviour, Amen.

So ends our translation of the first two small books. My (Margaret Weller) only purpose in producing this totally inadequate sketch is to point out the fantastic and wonderful story of the WELLER origin by a source one could never question! The books are available and crying out for a really scholarly translation. One can find writing about and by Dr. Hieronymus (Jerome) Weller von Molsdorff, Theologian, but these are the only copies of the family genealogy. The original books are in the German Museum at Nürnberg. The photostat copies were loaned to me by their owner Mr. Gustav A. Weller. After copying them by hand, I had a pretty good idea what was being said. Miss Meinhardt helped me with details.

Forward to the Interested and Christian Minded Reader.

One can say truthfully about Hieronymus Weller von Molsdorff what a learned author has written in Autobiography of Luther and Other Famous Men. His learned writings on the Evangelical Church show that he had saved neither time nor money in presenting a good picture of the events. (This work can be found in the Library Manuals of His Highness the Duke Rudolph August of Braunschweig and Lüneburg.)

In order to help the reader get acquainted with the mind-improving, comforting writings and to learn who the descendants of this great family were, these books were published.. It was upon the advice of highly intelligent persons that this Historia Welleriana came about. It contains the story of the life of this famous Theologian and his noble family. Many prominent writers assembled the facts and statements recorded.

"What philosophy wise and intelligent people can teach or think to be useful for an honorable life, this history, with its examples and stories puts it clearly before your eyes. One can find both those who had lived pious and wisely, what happened to them and how they were rewarded. On the other hand, if they happened to have been wicked or unwise, how they had to pay for it. From these histories and stories all laws, art, caution, wisdom and all virtues had sprung as from a living source." Martin Luther in History of the Duke of Meiland.

This Historia Welleri has been put together by authentic writers, mostly from Spangenberg's Adel-Spiegel about the noble family von Molsdorff. Heinrich Anshelms von Ziegler had also described scenes of the times, and Andreas Moller's Chronicle of Freiberg - 1653 is included.

This Historia Welleri was originally planned to be printed in Latin, but some good friends advised against this and so both Latin and German were used. Not only history, but also good morals were included, without which the work would lack "strength and savor". Spangenberg in his Adels-Spiegel says a lack of beautiful verses and examples of the scripture would neither give the work "taste nor smell", "strength nor savor", but would have the taste of "rotten wood for the reader".

(Since these have not been included in this translation, may we hope the omission will stimulate some scholar! M.W.)

Book number three is a restudy and restatement of the story already told and both statements have been used. Therefore we will proceed to the history of Dr. Jacob Weller von Molsdorff.

Jacob Weller von Molsdorff (1602 - 1664) was born December 5, 1602 in Voigtland (Markneukirchen, Saxony -GAW-)and died July 17,1664 (July 6, 1664 -GAW-). He was the son of Georg and Dorothea (Hörsel) Weller. Dorothea was the daughter of Johannes Hörsel a preacher in Marienberg. Georg Weller was a warrior who fought in the Hungarian War against the Turks. He owned 4 or 5 horses and came home with great booty and a paralized right hand, which showed his manly courage. He died when Jacob was a young lad.

When Jacob's parents found him to be a child of good character and ability with a wish for learning, wisdom and beauty, they sent him to school. In 1613 when he was eleven years old, Jacob was sent to Schlackenwalde in Bohemia, a famous Evangelical School where he learned his fundamentals. The school was close to his grandfather's home and they could see each other frequently.

He would have stayed longer, but General Tylli of Sweden invaded Germany (30 Year War) and Jacob returned to Saxony. He was almost killed by peasants, but God saved him from these barbaric hands. In Saxony he learned from his benefactor, David von Schuss that "the Lord has commanded His Angels to guard you on all of your ways."

Later Jacob went to Nürnberg for a number of years, where he enjoyed the poet, Matthias Zuber and stayed to hear his lectures. When Duke William von Boxberg saw his eagerness for study he recommended that Jacob enter the Boys Wonder High School at Schleusing in the Dukedom of Henneberg where they taught Greek and Latin. He stayed only one year and returned to Nürnberg where he was almost murdered because of the great unrest during these years between the Roman Catholic and Protestant Faiths. The Universities were really against him because of his Protestant beliefs so he went to the Protestant University at Wittenberg in 1623. By this time he was very poor indeed. At Wittenberg he "earned his bite of bread" by assisting the professors in various ways. Under God's protection and guidance and his own great desire to learn, he advanced in his studies. One of the Theologians, Balsthsar Miesner loved him and helped him obtain a teaching position because of his skill in Greek and Latin. Thus he tutored and taught many children which helped defray expenses.

Jacob earned his Master of Art degree in 1627 at age 26. He was writing on a Thesis for the Philosophical Faculty in 1631 and became a well known philosopher. He was praised so highly that some 350 persons wished to hear his lectures. The number was so great the only place large enough to hold so many people was the Church Cloister. The Council of Wittenberg allowed the lectures to be held in that place.

Jacob Weller's main interest was Theology with Philosophy and Philology closely related. (One of his most important contributions was a Greek Grammer which was used in the schools in many lands for a long time. M.W.)

Jacob was praised highly by Princes and Dukes and the Elector gave him a chair in Theology with salary at the University at Wittenberg. He soon earned his Doctorate degree, October 20, 1635 at age 33. One of the subjects on which he wrote, "What had been the religion of the people before the flood?"

On the same day that Jacob Weller received his Doctorate, he married Sibylla Gritzmacher. After only 1½ years of marriage, she and two children were dead from the plague which raged in Wittenberg, May 26, 1637.

Jacob Weller married a second time, Christina Dorothea Röber, daughter of Paul Röber. There were five daughters and two sons born: Magdalena, Sibylla, Johanna Magdalena, Georg Paul, Sophia Christina, and Johann Jacob.

After the death of the Court Minister, Matthias Höe von Höenigg of Lungwitz and Gonsdorff, the Elector of Saxony and the Court von Magdeberg called Jacob Weller von Molsdorff to this position. Jacob was greatly surprised and in his modesty thought he could never fill the shoes of his predessor. Likewise, Dr. Geier, who succeeded Jacob had the same misgivings about his ability to fill the shoes of Dr. Jacob Weller. Jacob Weller filled this position for 18 years serving churches and schools.

When Jacob Weller was called to the high honor of Court Minister of Meissen he moved his family to Dresden. For eighteen years he carried out the duties and responsibilities of his high office with praiseworthy success. The beloved wife of Prince Johann Georg I, testified to this high praise for Dr. Jacob Weller.

During his last travel to Denmark, Jacob became very ill, but was unable to stay in bed as the doctor had ordered, because of pressing work. When he was finished with his assignment he went home to Dresden where he lay in bed for 20 weeks and his wife served him night and day. She mourned his condition saying, "My heart, your heart, one heart in unison." Princes and Princesses visited him. As he lay on his deathbed he begged, "My dear wife, my children, and my children's children, serve God through prayer, singing and listening to sermons. Above all keep on believing in Jesus Christ. Amen."

Jacob Weller von Molsdorff died July 17, 1664 and was buried with ceremony in St. Sophia Church in Dresden. He had been a very generous man and many mourned his death, the students, the poor, the churches and the schools to which he had given so much. His successor, Dr. Geizer, reported the great loss at the death of this highly esteemed man who had the great gift of knowing how to comfort those in need.

We should wonder how this Court Minister, as a poor child lacking in almost everything except his own ability, subject always to God's direction, and his realization of the noble blood which flowed through his veins, had come to such high knowledge and world famous position. But, as Luther had said, "When a vessel is skillful and industrious God can see that it is filled with all manner of learning. All achievement should be laid to God's help." That this Court Minister, Jacob Weller was such a learned man we can see from his writings.

One Dr. Lucius said, "As long as Luther lived there was good peace in the Roman Empire and circumstances surrounding Faith and Religion were better. Since that time war has come which was very damaging to the Evangelical Churches."

WELLER von MOLSDORFF - Supplement

One of the ditto copies of the Ancient History of Weller was sent to the Genealogical Society of New Jersey in April 1968. The following responses have come to Harry and Margaret Weller:

Mr. George F. Kent, Editor of the Genealogical Magazine of New Jersey made a photo copy of it and sent to Ferinand von Schwedler, "a good and helpful friend, being sure he would be interested." In a letter from Mr. Kent dated July 17, 1968 the copy I sent to him was placed "with our papers at Rutger, New Brunswick, New Jersey."

The letter identifies Mr. Ferdinand von Schwedler as having "one of the finest and most complete collections of German family records I have ever seen, being the result of years of work. He is a former officer in the German army of the first world war and a scion of a family dating back to the twelfth century. He is now retired but was cartographer for the Hammond Map Company for some years".

Four letters from Mr. Ferdinand von Schwedler, 6 Entrance Way, Denville, New Jersey 07834 in May and June 1968, contain so much data I shall copy directly from them. M.W.

"May 24, 1968: Before me I have the pleasure to see a copy of your compilation of the WELLER Genealogy. Interesting indeed, and a compliment to the much work in this compilation.

Double interesting to me, remembering the days in 1914. Coming back from summer vacation in Italy, where the news of war after an assassination was exciting people, I arrived in my hometown, Karlsruhe, Baden. I then just was 15. Mobilization was in full swing, and some 35,000 volunteers were assembling in the streets near the barracks where I lived, but had to wait until the trained reserves had moved out. The regular troops were already on the border. - Gren. Reg. 109.

My school mates were all accepted, and the troops thus formed were all students from the Universities and high schools. I was 15 and rejected as the sergeants knew me, as a neighbor and son of an officer. I did get in as a volunteer messenger with the field artillery, where there were also organized 2 new regiments for volunteers. - Res. F.A. 51 and 52.

We first were moved out to a country village, "Knielingen" near Karlsruhe, where 3 of us got sleeping room upstairs in one of the small farms - the man (Kiefer, his name) with a wooden leg, a cripple from the Military time he served, when constructing a bridge (Pionier Btl.).

We received our equipment and supplies in that village. They outfitted the horses which were delivered to us from Swedish Cavalry. This was a thrillfull event. I was the only one that could ride, as I was a member of the riding class from my father's Rgt. Thus I was dispatch rider - while the rest were learning how to sit on a horse in some sand pits.

Six new divisions were thus organized, all from students, and as soon as organized were practicing maneuvering the howitzers withteams of six big brewery horses. These were loaded into a freight train. The most thrilling transport with decorated freight cars for the horses and flat cars for the vehicles. The train took us to Neudietendorf near Erfurt - Gotha. We unloaded and my 7th battery marched to "MOLSDORF". A very broad street lead to the "estate" where the economics were leased (verpachtet) to a man of this profession. On the end or head of the driveway, was the castle, built perhaps on the ruins about 1700.

There in lived the daughter of the Fieldmarshall Graf von Gneisenau, a very old lady with her home-staff. The economist lived in the side building, formerly the guest house, and there we quartered 30 men. Accross the driveway were the barns, a chain of buildings some 600 feet long. The stables were behind us.

One horse knocked down a lantern a fellow was using to look for something in his saddle pocket. That caused a fire which destroyed the entire barn. At least 6 of the 60 horses in the stalls were lost.

We formed a human chain from the lake in the park to the roof of Molsdorf Castle, and with the feed bags kept the roof wet and from catching fire from the rain of sparks.

I was several times invited by the Countess for dinner, and still am embarrassed when asking for another cup of tea. That tea was so light that one could see the flower print on the bottom of the cup. I was corrected - it was coffee. Coffee at home sure looked entirely different. I later learned that in that part of Germany they speak Saxon and they call coffee "Bliemchen". My father-in-law in Manchester, New Hampshire, sure remembers that name, as he came from Zwickau in 1880.

I was offered the opportunity to buy the castle in Nazi-Days when I was living in Chicago. I understood that the Castle (estate), previously owned by the State of Sachen-Keburg-Gotha, had been sold (castle and park only). the owner was a Jewish refugee in Switzerland, who would "give it away". Of course I could not swing to buy that, nor had any intention to go back there. The castle had no plumbing of any kind, and there was no electricity.

Correction and comments for the WELLER History

"Braunschweig is a Duchy, not part of the Kingdom of Prussia."
"Do notconstruct Mols with Molch - impossible."
"Near Molsdorf is a Mohlsdorf not far from Greiz."
"Not far is Molsberg, near Wallmerod in Westerwald/Rhineland."

"Another near Hersbruck in Franconia."
"Molschlenben near Gotha, closeby."
"Molzbach, Huenefeld in Hessia."
"Molzhain near Betzdorf, Kologne."

I was interested once before in "Moll" as a cousin of mine married Sibyllia Moll. I saw advertisments looking for "Moll". Same name but others centuries ago. That is the name where the Molsdorff got its name."

"I have a book on Castles in which is a full page picture of"Molsdorf Castle". The book is volume 12 of a large series and the Molsdorf story is on pages 75/6. Burgen und Schlosser, by Hans Werner Rothe, is the name of the books and they would be about $3.00 each volume, probably obtained from Wolfgang Weidlich, Savigny St., 59, Frankfurt/ Main, Germany."

Mr. Schwedler supplied the following translation:

"During the middle ages Weller von Molsdorff and the von Thüna families were known as owners of the estate. In 1705 the owner was Freiherr Bachof von Echt. After 1713 the Royal Hanne ovarian Landcommissioner Otto Christoph Schulze owned the place. In 1733 the place was purchased by Gustav Adolf Graf (count) von Gottern who rebuilt it. The castle consisted of 4 wings surrounding a court and in the southwest corner a tower. South and parts of east and west wings were demolished with higher rooms and different windows. The tower was later caving in and was removed. The north wing has only two towers, three floors high.

The happy owners had very luxurious furnishings, but being short of funds lost it to Baron Reinhard Roeder von Schwende, who in turn sold it back to the State, Duke Friedrich III von Gotha.
It suffered considerably when serving as a hospital during 1813 - 14. The Ministry after Duke Friedrich IV died considered it too expensive, especially the fancy water-works. Fountains and water-works were demolished. The park monuments were sold to Erfurt and are now in the Steiger - Park. Later the castle was in the possession of Count von Haslingen from Reichenwalde.

In 1945 the entire interior was demolished and it is now being considered to turn the place into a Kindergarten." (In 1968 Mr. Schwedler said the books were over 100 years old.)

Ferdinand von Schwedler in a letter dated June 13, 1968: "I found your name today, while having my lunch. I am indexing an encyclopedia of 1860 which the author did not finish before his death. In volume 7, page 550 of Kneschke, Adelslexicon: "Rönsch, Röhnsch (translated - shield halved long way. Right a man forward looking, his right hand resting on a pedestel, and with the left raising a baton. The other half a mountain and in blue a sun rising with a rainbow above the sun. The man in a red field.

INTRODUCTION

"Egbert von Roesch 1845 warden of a Penal Institution in Brieg, Silesia married in 1866 the daughter of the late Dr. Weller Grandduka1 Saxon - Weimarian Legation Counselor and his wife, Adelheid von Kropf. Their daughter, Emilie Weller. The father of the husband was former Royal Prussian Lt. and later Director of the Penal Institution (Prison) Leuchtenburg near Kahla (Thuringia).

More about this evidently in "Freiherr von Ledebur, Vol. 2, page 304 (another book). I (Ferdinand von Schwedler) have only vol. 1 & 3, but Baron von Langleinzell, 3057 Cornwall Road, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania 18017, a friend of mine, has the other volumes."

There is more in thes volumes but Ferdinand von Schwedler had no time. However in another letter he told of Deutsches Geschlechterbuch, Vol. 124: Otto Weller, born September 20, 1893, Brauerschwend/ Alsfeld married Auguste Helene Habicht, August 9, 1923 in Seglitz. She was born March 9, 1903 and their residence: Schlitz, West Germany, Muehlenweg.

Mr. Ferdinand von Schwedler added the following from his own "notes". His generosity is greatly appreciated and very enlightening. We warmly thank him for helping us so much.

"The soil was very heavy clay and fat, too, thus it was too heavy for potatoes. It needed 6 to 8 oxen to pull a single blade plow. Sugar beets were grown besides the usual oats, wheat and rye.

The Molsdorf nobles were Vasals of the Gleichen Counts. When Charles the Great destroyed the Kingdom of Thuringia, he installed counties like the Stolberg, the Schwarzburg, the Gleichen, the Henneberg, the Rossla, the Winzingerode, and perhaps some more. The Gleichen derived their name from the 3 castles built close together, all 3 of the same plan (alike - gleich). Castle and village belonged to the Counts.

My records (Ferdinand von Schwedler) show that in the Gleichen Documents (1860) there were men by the name of Gerwig Molsdorf in 1246, 1325, 1329, 1332, and 1338. In the 14th century they were of the Patriziat of Erfurt, a city near by. Heinrich was a member of the city council 1306.

Later in 1430 another branch of the family, after getting an inheritance, added the name WELLER and by and by dropped the Molsdorf all together. Molsdorf is derived from a Muehle - mill.

D(ominus) Hieronimus von Molsdorf lived in the days of Luther. D(ominus) Jakob von Molsdorf, owner of Karsdorff, died July 6, 1664, as Kursaechsischer Ober-Hof Prediger in Dresden. The family is extinct. According to some manuscript, there were still some living in 1811.

The last owners were the Duchy of Sachsen - Gotha where it was a Domaine. There is a string of reference material quoted in the book.

No record is found about the first Elisabeth and Daniel except their birth date, the same is true for Peter but Elisabeth's and Daniel's name were used later. There is no mention of these three children in Daniel Weller's will: Daniel Weller died March 23, 1824, in North Strabane Township, Washington county, Pennsylvania and is buried on his homestead along with members of the rest of his family.

The following is a copy of Daniel Weller's (1754 - 1824). Will;

IN THE NAME OF GOD AMEN. I Daniel Weller of Strabane Township, Washington County, and Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, being weak in body but of sound mind and memory (praise be to God for the same) and being desirous to settle my worldly affairs, whilst I have strength and capacity so to do; do hearby make and publish this my last Will and Testament; and first and principally I commit my Soul to God who gave it, and my Body to the Earth to be Interred at the discretion of my executor's herein after named; and as to the Worldly Estate with which it has pleased God to entrust me, I dispose of the same as follows - - - - - - - and first I do give and bequeath to my beloved wife Elisabeth Weller any one of my two Mares she may think proper to choose, and saddle; and likewise as much of my household furnish as she may think proper to take, also any two rooms in my dwelling house she may want to live in during her life, together with full privilege of the kitchen and cellar, also two cows and six sheep; also half of the garden during her life, and likewise liberty to keep as many fowls as she may think convenient, likewise all the linen and woolen cloth in my possession at my decease, and such as are now in the way of being manufactured into cloth; likewise the part of my stock and household furniture remaining after my said wife Elisabethhas made her choice, follow to be sold and the money thence arising to be put to interest, which interest, together with the interest of the money remaining after paying the legacies mentioned hereafter follow to be given to my said wife during her life.

Second, I do bequeath to my son, Jacob Weller, all my right and title to that part of my plantation on which I now live, lately surveyed by David White, containing one hundred and four acres; two roods and thirty seven perches; likewise I bequeath to my son, Daniel Weller, the remaining part of said plantation, also my boycott, together with all the horse gear, wagons, plows, harrow, windmill, cutting box and one cow; in consideration of these bequeathments do obligate the said Jacob and Daniel to lay in the house to their mother a sufficient quantity of wheat and Indian flour, also a sufficient quantity of beef and pork and also to provide sufficient pasture for her horse, cows, and sheep during the summer and likewise to feed and fodder them for her during the winter, and likewise to lay in to her a sufficient quantity of wood and coal for fuel - - - - - -

Thirdly, I bequeath to my son, John Weller, three hundred and thirty two dollars, and also at the decease of my wife, I allow my executors to give him four hundred dollars more.

Fourthly, I bequeath to my daughters the following sum, viz, to Barbarah Shaw twenty one dollars and thirty four cents - to my daughter Nancy Hare the plantation on which she now lives and to my daughter Elisabeth Boyles seven hundred and fifty seven dollars, - and false bequeath to the children of my daughter Catherine Hixon, dec., as follows, viz, to my grandson Daniel Hixon one hundred and fifty dollars, to grandson Samuel Hixon one hundred and fifty dollars and to my granddaughter Elisabeth Hixon one hundred and fifty dollars, the whole to be put out at interest until they arrive at age; and if and any of the said children should die before they come of age, their share is to be divided among the survivors.

Fifthly, at the decease of my wife Elisabeth follow the property she then hold as to be sold and the money collected, and also the money then at interest; and after paying four hundred dollars to my son John Weller, as mentioned above, follow the remainder to be equally divided among my three daughters,viz, Barbarah Shaw, Nancy Hare, and Elisabeth Boyles; and whereas my daughter Nancy Hare has received one hundred dollars more than her sisters, follow my executors to give attention to this, and make them all equal. - - - - - -

Lastly, I do nominat and appoint Alexand Scott and John Urie to be executors of this my last will and testament - - - - - -

Signed, sealed, published and declared, by the above named Daniel Weller as and for his last Will and Testament in the presence of us, who at his request, and in his presence, have subscribed our names as writing this here to.

The following is a copy of John Weller's (1783 - 1865) Will;

IN THE NAME OF THE BENEVOLENT FATHER OF ALL. I, John Weller of Miami County and State of Indiana do make and publish this my last Will and Testament.
First - I give and bequeath to my beloved wife Christena out of the rents and profits of my farm on which I now reside, a good and comfortable maintenance whilst she remains my widow. She shall have the right to remain on my farm if she so desires during her widowhood. And whatever amount of fruit she may need for her own use and family, she shall be entitled to, she is also to have pasture and feed for one cow. She is also to have whateveramount of personal property she may see proper to select at any time before the same shall be advertised for sale by my Executor provided the same shall not exceed Three Hundred Dollars in the appraised value. Should my said wife Christena again marry then in that case she shall not be entitled to any of the rents and profits as aforesaid. I further direct that my Executor shall pay all my first debts and funeral expenses, out of any means that may come into his hands as such Executor as soon as the same canconsistently be done. I further direct that my farm be not sold whilst my said wife Christena lives or remains my widow.

I further direct that after all my debts and other proper expenses are paid that whatever more means that may be made out ofthe rents and profits of my farm more than is required to maintain my said wife during her widowhood as aforesaid shall be applied to repairing my said farm and as soon as there may be means enough in the hands of my Executor after keeping my farm in repair to be used for building a house for the use of my wife aforesaid.

I further direct that assoon as thesame can be done after my wifes death or intermarriage that my said farm be sold by my Executor as provided by law and the proceeds of the same be divided as follows to-wit:

Susan Clay(formerly Susan Baker) John Baker, Henry Baker, Pauline Moore (formerly Pauline Baker) and Malinda Harrison(formerly Malinda Baker) all of which being children of my said wife Christena to each of which I direct that the sum of Twenty Dollars be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of my said farm as follows:

I give and bequeath out of the proceeds of the sale of my farm as aforesaid to William Henry Baker the sum of Fifty Dollars the same to be put on interest by a guardian according to law for the use of said William Henry Baker when he may arrive at the age of twenty-one years of age. Should the said William Henry Baker die before the sale of my said farm then so much as may be bequeathed to him to be null and void and of no effect.

I further give and bequeath out of the sale of my farm as aforesaid all the proceeds of the same after paying all proper expenses to my children as their lawful representatives to wit: Betsy Musser, Mary Walker, Catherine Burman, Isaac Weller, Henry Weller and Jonathan Weller the same to be divided equally between my said children as aforesaid. I do hereby nominate and appoint John Clingaman of Miami County, Indiana my Executor of this my last will and testament hereby authorizing and empowering him to compromise adjust and release and discharge in such manner as he may deem proper the debts and claims due me the same to be approved by the Court of Common Pleas. I do hereby revoke all former wills by me made.

In testimony hereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this sixth day of March 1865.

*From Roann Claridon News - Roann, Indiana, October 6, 1893. This is an account of the battle in which John Walker was killed in the Civil War.

"47th IND. - The following extract is taken from the American Tribune, giving a history of the above regiment at the battle of Port Gibson, which will be of interest to our readers, especially those who do not read the Tribune. Comrade D. S. Hower it will be seen sent it to Chaplin Sawyer who was the compiler of that regiment's eventful history:

When requested to prepare a history of the 47th regiment to be presented at one of our annual reunions, I asked the officers and men of the regiment to write me such incidents as they recalled. David S. Hower, of Roann, Wabash county, sent me the following;

On the 30th of April, 1863, we crossed theMississippi below Vicksburg from Louisiana to the Mississippi side just below Grand Gulf, on the gun-boat Cincinnatus. As soon as we landed we were ordered to draw three days rations and get ready to march. We started at dusk and marched all night with slight skirmishing. At day light, we were ordered to get a hurried breakfast soon as possible. We stopped in a ravine, where there was a small stream and before we had time to make coffee, we were attacked and kept constantly under arms and had neither time nor opportunity to eat anything until the next day. It was now the 1st of May; we kept up fighting all day; were driven back and had to retreat several times. About noon General Slack rode along the line, as we were in order of battle and ordered out company D, under command of Captain Bruner, as skirmishers. "My men are about worn out," said the Captain "and overcome with heat and would rather not go." Comrade John Walker said, "Captain, let us go" and he is the only one who said a word. We were deployed out as skirmishers and advanced to the foot of the hill, then up the hill through a heavy cane brake. Our company as we came out of the cane brake occupied about half a mile in length, and Comrade Walker was on the extreme left. Just as we reached the top of the hill, we were fired into, and he was the first one to fall, instantly killed, and the only one of us killed in that skirmish.

We were compelled to retreat and leave him on the field where he fell. Levi Abbott, Wilson Sharp, Milton Ball and D. S. Hower were sent back to recover the body of Walker, and as they reached the bottom of the hill, they were fired into and had to fall back and leave the body on the field over night. During the night all remained in line of battle arms in hand. The next morning the Johnnies were gone, and the four soldiers above named went after the body of Comrade Walker, brought it back with them and he was buried with the rest of the dead. 'John' as we always called him, had his pocket book in its place and in it a one dollar bill, both shot through with a minnie ball. The pocket book was taken, and the bill, saturated with blood, and both sent home to his mother by comrade Hower, and they, the pocket book and blood stained dollar bill, may be seen to-day as relics of the war, at the home of Robert walker, near Roann. Thus ended the life of one of our best soldiers and the only one who seemed anxious to go on the skirmish line of that day.

It was a part of Pemberton's men, who thus encountered us so fiercely, at what was known as Magnolia Hill, just as we were marching on our way to Port Gibson. The fighting began at two o'clock a. m., May 1st by moonlight and continued the whole of the ensuing day, resulting in a complete victory for the Union forces. In this fight in which the 47th and 34th Indiana and 56th Ohio regiments were engaged, sixty rebel soldiers were killed, 340 wounded and 600 prisoners and a rebel battery of four guns were captured. The 24th and 28th Iowa were also brigaded with us, and the 1st Missouri Light Artillery attached."

Compiler's note: There are many more names shown as Eighth Generation; however there is insufficient information to carry their names further. Example being born very recently or having been born in the last 20 years without a marriage taking place. It is the compiler's hope that as the years go by that the data missing can be added to the Appendix as it is brought to my attention; Richard S. Weller, 2609 Lake Youngs Court S. E., Renton, Washington 98055 - - - This also holds true for the very little information on the following Ninth Generation; (MAY 1978)

APPENDIX

The following are brief biographies of some of the descendents of Daniel Weller (1754-1824) recorded in Volumes I and III of the books "History of Washington County Pennsylvania" - Chicago - The S. J. Clarke Publishing Company - 1926:

A very interesting portion of our family history lies in Washington County Pennsylvania because this is the area where many of the post Revolutionay War Veterians settled. Among some of these families are the names; Boyle, McConnell, Weller, Gilmore, Berry, and many others.

The chart that is shown below will help in following the relationship of some of the people and families mentioned in the excerpts from "History of Washington County".

---Mrs. Mary Belle Forrest, wife of Joshua Rhodes Forrest, was the daughter of Daniel Boyle and a granddaughter of William Boyle, who was one of the early residents of North Strabane township. William Boyle was born in the Noblestown settlement, in the neighboring county of Alleghany, in 1794, and was the son of Hugh and Ann (Gilmore) Boyle, the latter of whom was the younger of the two Gilmore sisters, Elizabeth and Ann, heroines of the Revolutionary War. The following is one of the accounts that surrounds the life of these two famous sisters, Elizabeth and Ann Gilmore. "Mrs. J. R. Forrest can lay claim to the unique distinction of being a great-granddaughter of Elizabeth Gilmore, a Revolutionary heroine, who followed the fortunes of Washington's army for seven years, nursing the sick and wounded and even shouldering a rifle in times of need. This woman and her sister Ann answered that call long ago from across the sea and left their home in Ireland to do their bit on the cause of American freedom.

Ann Gilmore, Elizabeth's younger sister, was with Elizabeth much of the time she was in the Continental army, and it is known that she spent the winter of 1777-78 at Valley Forge, but there are no state records of her service as was the case for her sister, Elizabeth Gilmore. Ann Gilmore married Hugh Boyle, a Revolutionary soldier, who wasa member of the Canadian campaign of 1777; fought at Brandywine and Monmouth; was at Valley Forge, and was in at the death of England's hopes, when Lord Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown. After the war he settled where Oakdale now stands and owned the land where that town was built in later years. He died at the age of 90 years and is buried in the Hill Church Cemetery at Noblestown beside his wife. And so two Revolutionary heroines are buried in Western Pennsylvania, unhonored and almost forgotten.

It was during the terrible winter of 1777-78 that the romance began between the half starved soldier, John Berry,and Elizabeth Gilmore. The Continental troops received aid of all kinds from women, but cases where any official record wasmade of this service are very few. In fact, out of all the hundreds, probably thousands of women who gave assistance to the American troops during the Revolution, those who received offical reconition for their services can be counted on the fingers of one hand. It was only after some very unusual service, such as actual fighting, as in Molly Pitcher's case, that a record was made. For this reason it is next to impossible to secure the necessary recognition of such action by the official board of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution to be granted membership, or additional lineage bars or papers on the service of a female ancestor.

Elizabeth Gilmore enlisted as a private in the Continental army and actually fought in several battles. The records of Elizabeth Gilmore's services in the Revolution were found in the Pennsylvania archives, which state that Elizabeth Gilmore received pay from the state of Pennsylvania for her services as a private in the Continental army. This appears in the Fifth Series, Volume IV, page 680, where Elizabeth Gilmore is listed as a private from Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, among the "Soldiers of the Revolution who received pay for their services. Taken from manuscript record having neither date nor title." This list is also in the Volume XXII, Third Series, under the title of "Rangers on the Frontier" and her name is given there.

John Berry and Elizabeth Gilmore were married in 1780, but they continued their services in the Continental army until the close of the war. After peace was declared, they settled in Colerain Township, Lancaster County, where they lived until 1794. In the spring of that year, John Berry went to Washington county and worked during the summer on the farm of Dr. John McMillan, the founder of Jefferson College, at Canonsburg. In the fall he returned east, but the next spring went back to Washington county and western Pennsylvania, where he settled with his family.

In 1796 John Berry purchased a farm of 251 arces from George Washington. This was part of the land owned by Washington in Northern Washington, and not far from where McDonald now stands. The original deed from Washington is still in thepossession of the Berry family. John Berry died on this farm on June 7, 1809, at the age of fifty-six years, and is buried in the old Robinson Run Churchyard. For fifteen years, his widow, Elizabeth Gilmore Berry, lived at the old house, but on August 21, 1823, she died and was buried beside her husband. There is nothing on her monument to show her services during America's struggle for independence, and except for the records in the Pennsylvania Archives, it would never have been established.

Daniel Boyle, grandson of Hugh and Ann Gilmore Boyle, was born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, April 8, 1820, and was one of the eight sons of William and Elisabeth (Weller) Boyle, the latter of whom was born in North Strabane township, Washington county, a daughter of Daniel and Elisabeth (Mechie) Weller, who were among the pioneers of that part of the county, having a farm in the neighborhood of the old Chartiers Presbyterian church, long and better known as the Hill church. They both spent their last days here and are buried in the Weller private burial ground on the summit of the hill east of the church. Daniel Weller, who was a son of Daniel Weller (both soldiers of the Revolution), served as a private in the company of Captain John Gingery in the Ninth Battalion of the Lancaster County Militia, in 1778, and in Captain Abraham Forey's company of the Third Battalion in 1779. (According to the records at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, Daniel Weller's Father, Daniel Weller was enrolled as a Private in Seventh Class, Captain Henry Kuster's Third Company, Third Battalion, Lancaster County Militia, according to the evidence of a True List dated 1781; residence ascribed, Warwick Township.)

JOHN W. BOYLE, son of William and Elizabeth (Weller) Boyle, the latter was the daughter of Daniel and Elisabeth (Mechie) Weller. John W. Boyle was one of the men who crossed the plains in 1850, braving the cholera which killed thousands of California gold seekers. In a long letter which he wrote from Sacramento, California, to his relatives in Washington County, April 25, 1852, three days before he sailed for Peru, he described his journey of 1850. Thisletter was found among the papers of Mrs. Alice Ferrest Boyle, widow of Hugh Boyle(see page 14 of this writing), after her death in Washington in 1915.

In speaking of his trip across the plains, Mr. Boyle says: "The journey was doubtless as hard a one as was ever performed by men. I do not mean by this that it has been equally hard to all who have crossed the overland route to this country, for such is not true. The emigrants of '49 and '51 know nothing of the hardships, as compared with the emigration of '50. You will naturally ask what the difference was; in answer to which I will remark in the first place, that in (His) wisdom God saw proper to follow us up with the cholera which slayed thousands, and left its tens of thousands to mourn their loss as they journeyed on; and again we suffered from a scarcity of feed for our stock which was our only dependence. Such was not the case in '49 and '51, for there were the bones of our dead almost covered the ground, the stock of '51 fattened; and again from the advice of the emigrants of '49 we started with merely a sufficiency of provisions to last us through without making any allowance for time spent in recruting our teams or waiting upon the sick. Hence it was that three-fourths of the emigrants fell short of provisions and had to pay from one to three dollars a pound for every bite of flour and meat they ate for weeks, while many lived upon dead mules and cattle. And some, thank God they were not many, starved to death."

On April 28, 1850, Mr. Boyle reached Hanktown, now Placerville, California, where for eighteen months he was engaged in the hotel business and bought and sold stock. On April 27, 1852, he gave a temperance lecture in Dolores mission, San Francisco, probably the first of its kind ever given in California; and the next day he sailed for Peru. Later he returned to the United States and studied law. At the time of the Civil war he was appointed by President Lincoln as judge of the United States district court in Dakota territory, where he served until the close of the war. The remainder of his life was spent in the West. In 1893 he was in the land rush into Oklahoma and finally settled at Oklahoma City, where he was killed some years later by being thrown from a buggy.

BLANCHE LINN BOYLE daughter of EBENEZER B. BOYLE son of WILLIAM BOYLE - - On October 22, 1908, Thomas S. Grier was united in marriage to Miss Blanche Linn Boyle, who was born in North Strabane township and is the daughter of E. B. and Elizabeth Young (Linn) Boyle, both members of pioneer families of Washington County, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Boyle, born in 1834, was a daughter of Colonel Moses Linn and Nancy (Spear) Linn, the former of whom an officer of the army during the War of 1812, was born in 1795 and was a son of James Linn, a soldier of the Revolutionary war from Lancaster county. Colonel Moses Linn died in North Strabane Township in 1817. E. B. Boyle was a farmer, director of the First National Bank of Canonsburg, and a school director. He was born October 22, 1826, and was the son of William and Elisabeth (Weller) Boyle, the latter of whom was the daughter of Daniel and Elisabeth (Mechie) Weller. Daniel Weller was a veteran of the Revolutionary war, serving from Lancaster county. William Boyle was born in Allegheny county in 1791, a member of that pioneer Boyle family of Washington county. He and his wife were members of Hill Presbyterian church . Mrs. Elisabeth (Weller) Boyle, who was born in North Strabane township, December 16, 1799, died April 23, 1861; and William Boyle survived but a few year, his death occuring in 1865, he then being seventy-one years of age. E. B. Boyle died December 4, 1909, at the age of eighty-three years, and his widow survived him for almost four years, her death occuring September 1, 1913, when she was seventy-nine years of age. (Complier's note: there are several discrepancies in names and dates mentioned in the above paragraph; see page 14 for family records. This sort of conflict appears often in this sort of work. R.S.Weller)

E. K. WELLER was Washington county's leading photographer. He was born July 8, 1871, in Peters township, Washington county, Pennsylvania. His father, Daniel L. Weller, a native of North Strabane township, was a teamster and huckster(hauling business and peddler) and passed away at Canonsburg in 1915. He was a member of the United Presbyterian church and was an adherent of the Republican party. His parents were Daniel and Catherine (Grounds) Weller, the former of whom was also a native of North Strabane township. He made farming his life work, and he died in the same house in which he was born. In religious faith he was a Presbyterian, and he cast his ballot for the candidates of the Republican party. Mary J. (Kelly) Weller, the mother of E. K. Weller, was born near Bethel Church, in Washington county, and she died at Pittsburgh July 5, 1903.

Ernest K. Weller was married October 17,1900, to Miss Henrietta Hayden, who was born December 1, 1875, a daughter of John D. and Charlotte (Rees) Hayden. Her father was a native of Washington county and was the son of a Union veteran. He was a Democrat in his political views and for a number of years was a mine foreman in the coke region of Fayette county, Pennsylvania. He passed away at Canonsburg in November, 1910, his wife died in 1898, also at Canonsburg. Mr and Mrs. E. K. Weller had two children. A son, Hayden, was born June 7, 1903 and a daughter, Kathryn, born September 9, 1905. Mrs. Weller died February 5, 1922.

HAROLD EUGENE WELLER, M.D. , of Monongahela, Washington county, was born at North Belle Vernon, Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, on the 27th of April, 1891, and was the son of Robert Lane and Margaret (Ferguson) Weller. Robert Lane Weller was born on a farm near Hil church in Washington county October 20, 1847 and died while living at North Belle Vernon, June 26, 1920. He had engaged in mercantile business, and in early life had been a music teacher. He was a member of the Hill Presbyterian church, while in politics he was a stanch Democrat. He was the son of Daniel and Catherine(Grounds) Weller, farming folk whose homestead was located near the Hill church. They were Presbyterians in their religious faith, and Mr. Weller supported the Republican party. Margaret (Ferguson) Weller was born in Scotland, March 21, 1856. She was the daughter of William and Jane(Leighton) Ferguson, both of whom were natives of Scotland. They came to this country and the father was a successful merchant, a Presbyterian in religion and a Republican in Politics.

Dr. Harold Eugene Weller was married at Wheeling, West Virginia, July 15, 1916, to Miss Grace Welsh, who was born October 13, 1892, a daughter of Anthony R. and Katherine (Thompson) Welsh. Mr. Welsh was born at Renovo, Pennsylvania. He votes the Democratic party and is a member of the Methodist church. His wife was born at Curvensville, Pennsylvania. Anthony R. welsh was the son of Christopher Columbus and Elizabeth (Racewelch) Welch. The former, who was born in 1827, a son of Jared and Mary (Brooks) Welsh, followed farming all his life and died at Lock Haven, Pennsylvania. Jared Welsh, a native of Ireland, came to the colonies in an early day, became a farmer in Pine Creek township, Lycoming county, Pennsylvania (now Clinton county), took part in the war of the Revolution and was a taxpayer in 1797. Katherine Thompson Welsh was a daughter of Josiah and Mary (Wilson) Thompson, the latter of whom was a daughter of a Quaker minister in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Josiah Thompson, who at the time of his death lived at Clearfield, Pennsylvania, was a farmer by vocation, was an active member of the Baptist church and built the first church of that faith at Glen Richey, Pennsylvania, also donating the land on whichthe building was erected. Dr. and Mrs. Weller were the parents of two children, Harold Eugene,Jr. born March 30,1917 and Helen Gladys, born February 15, 1919.

PLEASE NOTE

The enclosed Supplement may be copied as many times as required to add to all of the Weller notebooks that you know exist in your area. If I don't do this in this manner, the cost of this project will get out of hand. Also if friends want copies of the original Weller notebook feel free to copy it on your local Xerox(Copy)machine---all information contained in the notebook is public record.

In the 1980 Supplement, please notice pages 134 and 135. The conclusions made on these two pages are mine and need further proof. John Jacob Weller(b.1704-d.1794) was born in Dietenshausen, Berleburg, Germany coming to this country September 26,1737 with his two brothers, Joseph Henry and John Henry, and his father, John Daniel, and mother(name unknown at this time). This information is recorded in church records.

John Jacob's trail has been fairly well documented but Joseph, John, and Daniel's trail has been more obscure in the sense that no one has been able to find out what happened to the other two brother and father. The fact that the early Germans used both of their names for different situations made things more confusing. In the case of John Daniel; he used the name of Daniel when he entered at Philadelphia but in a death record he went by the name John(The only John Weller to die in the correct time frame-1758-in Lancaster County).

In the case of John Henry; he went mostly by John but in church records he used both names, probably to avoid confusion with his father who lived close by. Now for John Henry's children: Elizabeth, Jacob, Catherine, John Henry,Jr., Barbara, Daniel, and Margaret---John Henry,Jr. is the only "known" child of John Henry,Sr. but there is no other family in Rapho or Hempfield Townships to tie these people to. These names fit into the proper time frame and were also names used by Daniel(b.1754-d.1824) and appears as #2 in our line. I have accounted for all of Joseph Henry's children for what would have been the next three generations and this data will be added in the form of another chapter of the Weller notebook as well as John Jaccob's line.

If all of the above is indeed fact, then the line should read as follows: Daniel,2; John Henry,Sr.,1; John Daniel,0; (unknown),-1; etc.

Thank you and please send all coments to---- Richard S. Weller

APPENDIX
(Supplement July - 1979)

See page 1, DANIEL(2) WELLER- - - add the following land record information.

7 January 1785, Daniel Weller of Rapho Township, Lancaster County, Penna. purchased 195 acres in Hampshire County, Virginia(now West Virginia) for 150 pounds Pennsylvania currency. (Fairfax Land of the Northern Neck of Virginia located on the Little Capcapon) Daniel lived on this land.

12 June 1788, Daniel Weller of Hampshire County, Virginia purchased 46 acres in Hampshire County, Virginia for 70 pounds Virginia currency. (Also Fairfax Land located on the Little Capon)

9 April 1794, Daniel Weller of Hampshire County, Virginia purchased ca 205 acres in Hampshire County, Virginia for 265 pounds. (Also located on both sides of Capahon adjoining the land of Daniel Weller)

17 October 1796, Daniel Weller(spelled Willar) and Elizabeth, his wife, of Hampshire County, Virginia sold all of the land parcels mentioned above for 800 pounds.

28 May 1796, Daniel Weller of Hampshire County, Virginia purchased 269¼ acres in Washington County, Pennsylvania for 1,177 pounds, 19 shillings, 4 pence halfpenny. (Located on the Waters of Chartier Creek)

Note: Little Cacapon River(as now spelled) has various spellings in the land records above. Also, Hampshire County, Virginia as listed above is now in West Virginia. This information would indicate that the 3rd, 4th, 5th, & 6th child of Daniel and Elizabeth Weller were born in Hampshire County, Virginia(now West Virginia) instead of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. 3rd & 4th child buried in W. Va.

See page 6, Ref. JACOB(3) WELLER (Daniel,2;- - -born in Hampshire County, Virginia(now West Virginia), March 16, 1793----

See page 3, add the following probate information to Daniel Weller's will.

Washington County, Pennsylvania. Be it remembered that on the 30th day March Anno Domini 1824 before me Robert Colmery, Register for the probate of Wills and granting letters of Administration in and for said County came James Miller and William Miller the subscribing witnesses to the aforegoing last Will and Testament of Daniel Weller dec who being duly sworn as the law directs do depose and say that they were personally present and did see the Testator therein named sign this Will and Testament. That at the time of his so doing he was to the best of their apprehension of sound and disposing mind memory and understanding; and that they respectively subscribed their names as witnesses to this Will in the presence of each other.

And sworn to and subscribed before me.
